John Birch Society Now in 'Warren' P.O. Box

By WALT WRIGHT

Interested in the John Birch Society?
The following advertisement may help:

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY invites inquiries regarding its beliefs and principles. Box 106, Lafayette.

The ad, which appeared Wednesday and appears today under "personals" in The Sun classified section, was placed recently by Mrs. Kent B. Kitterman, 983 Hawthorne Drive, Lafayette.

THE POST OFFICE box is the same as that used by The Committee to Impeach Earl Warren on its billboards in Alameda County.

Mrs. Kitterman made no comment when asked why the same box was being used for movements called distinctly separate by members of both.

She explained that she was not an official spokesman of either group, and said she was acting for someone else.

AT THE SAME time, Janet Snodgrass of San Jose, executive secretary of the committee, said the box was being used without her knowledge.

"It may, in fact, be a rather practical solution to a problem," she said.

"We discovered when receiving inquiries regarding the Warren movement that about one-third of them asked questions about the John Birch Society," she said.

IT WAS Mrs. Snodgrass who told The Sun in March that she was "getting a little tired of having everything conservative labelled 'John Birch'."

"It's quite possible that someone decided to use the same box; but I was not informed of it," she said.

Mrs. Kitterman said that any information about the society's activities in the area would have to come through the postal box. Because of unfortunate experiences in coverage by the metropolitan Bay Area press, she said, "we are unable to open our meetings to reporters at this time."

IN ORINDA Mrs. John A. Richardson echoed Mrs. Kitterman's sentiments.

Wife of John Birch Society Section Leader Dr. John A. Richardson, Mrs. Richardson is the proprietor of the American Opinion Bookshop in Albany.

She formerly operated a similar store in Lafayette.

Mrs. Richardson did say, however, that statements from the society might be forthcoming soon.

The activity here is viewed by some local observers as a sign of the recent reorganization of the society's leadership in the Bay Area.

New Bay Counties Coordinator Hugh Fine told newspapers recently that membership had increased by about 15 per cent in the eight counties.

Sources estimate total active membership at around 650 members in Fine's jurisdictional area.

Trustees Topic: Teachers Raise

Superintendent Joseph L. Sheaff's proposed salary schedule for certificated and classified personnel for the Orinda Union School District will be the topic of a special meeting of the board of trustees. It will be in Pine Grove School library at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The teachers drew up their own schedule after the trustees approved only half of their requested payment on the health premium.

The board approved up to $4 monthly payment on the premium. Maximum requested was $8 per month.

Sheaff's schedule calls for an increase of not less than 3.5 per cent for classified personnel.

THIS FIGURE was attained by adding the cost of living increase (1.6 per cent) to 1.9 per cent which would bring the Orinda salaries within the present average of surrounding school districts, said Sheaff.

For certificated teachers, Sheaff proposed a salary increase of 2.58 per cent. The salaries would range from $5150 to $9350.

Range which the teachers had requested was from $5200 to $9410.

SHEAFF recommended that the salaries for special services, principals and directors be based on the teachers' schedule with the factor applied.

The board was ready to act upon the teachers' proposed salary schedule April 15 at its adjourned meeting. Superintendent Sheaff surprised both the teachers and board by presenting his "interim" proposal and requesting the postponement.

A $30,000 warehouse, which was also due for discussion on the 15th was postponed until the outcome of the salary issue.

School Discipline Problem Not Big

Schools in the Acalanes High School District do not have a "switch-blade" type of discipline problem, administrators told the board of trustees Wednesday night.

"Most of the schools' work is 'preventive' rather than 'punitive,'" Leland Russell, assistant superintendent of education and high schools deans and principals reported to the board.

Russell lauded the cooperation schools receive from parents.

DEANS ROBERT Callen of Miramonte, Heloise Corr of Campolindo, Naomi Giddings of Miramonte, Burk Faraola and Kathryn Taylor of Las Lomas, and Robert Stevens and Vera Richardson of Acalanes reported that the basic seat of discipline is the classroom and the management of the classroom teacher.

Counseling services and dean consultations are brought to bear in that order when the problem moves beyond the classroom and the teacher. Individual guidance services are also utilized where problems require.

The last resort is "suspension."

RUSSELL reported that suspensions during the seven months of the current school year have been no greater than "eight-tenths of one per cent of the enrollment."

Students on suspension are given the opportunity to keep up with any academic work they may miss.

A procedure of working with parents and notifying them of impending discipline is the general practice.

"ALL DISCIPLINE, including suspension, is weighed on the individual merit of the incident and the case involved," the deans reported. "Student control systems in which students monitor their own campus behavior are used to encourage self-discipline."

In response to parental comments that they might not always have been notified immediately about impending discipline, deans and school officials said it was their intent to make such decisions known as promptly as possible.

BOARD members commended the operation and the philosophy behind the district's discipline policies.

Superintendent Neil Parsons noted that the ultimate penalty of expulsion had not been required in more than three instances in the past eighteen years.

Medic Bldg. Fight

The county planning staff expects to make a field trip today to a proposed site for an Orinda medical and professional building.

Duffel-Smoother Companies applied for a land use permit Wednesday night before the county board of adjustment. It hopes to establish the building on the west side of Camino Encinas, approximately 160 feet south of Moraga Way.

JOE DUFFEL presented an architect's sketch of the building as well as arguments for establishment of the building.

More than 25 appeared in opposition to the proposed medical building. Their two spokesmen were Edwin A. Flinn, president of the Encinas de Moraga Home Association, and Robert Nelson, a resident of the area.

Flinn stated that his association opposed the variance partly for reasons of safety. He pointed out that the school bus picked children up at that location.

He said that the streets were too narrow and additional traffic would endanger the safety of children.

"Moraga Way is a sufficient buffer zone between commercial and residential," said Flinn.

HE ALSO questioned whether adequate parking would be possible because of the creek at the site and the size of the building. If there is on-street parking, no emergency vehicle could get up Camino Encinas, according to Flinn.

"There are enough doctors and dentists in the area to cover the community's needs," he said.

Robert Nelson, who lives at 43 Camino Encinas, seconded all that Flinn said, without elaborating on it.

He added that such a variance would set a precedent. "Where one such permit is allowed, two come along, and so forth..."

Duffel contended that a medical-professional building would be "good use" of the property. He said that it would be a good buffer zone between residential and commercial property.

THE ARCHITECT provided adequate parking space and the building would definitely not create a traffic hazard, according to Duffel.

He said that the street was wide enough; but wasn't entirely paved. With the proposed setback, he contended that visibility would be increased.

His company plans to widen the section of the proposed building.

Objection of too many medics is the concern of the doctors and not the neighborhood as far as investment purposes, according to Duffel. Use of building should be up to the investor, as to who they rent it to, he stated.

If the staff takes the field trip today, the hearing may appear again on the board's agenda May 7.

Donald E. Manuel Named To Incorp. Study Group

Donald E. Manuel accepted an appointment to the Orinda Incorporation Study Committee this week, Chairman Walter G. Treanor announced.

This brings the total of committee members to 10. The committee was appointed in February by the board of directors of the Orinda Association.

TREANOR is a director of the association. President Harry Fledderman is an ex-officio member of the incorporation committee.

Other members are Bruce Howard, Vic Kingston, James Keating, Clarence Betz, Charles Legge, John Banister and John Buchanan.

A target date of September is set for completion of the study. The directors describe it as an "objective, fact-finding study of the desirability of incorporation for Orinda."

RAY BROWN, deputy director of county public works, addressed the committee's April 18 meeting. The entire meeting was dedicated to consideration of the road situation.

"It was an extremely educational session for all of us and laid the foundation for further study and development of what may prove to be the most important single element of our over-all study," said Treanor.

In announcing Manuel's appointment, Treanor stated that the committee determined "it would be desirable to strengthen our committee by the addition of one member."

Manager Gives Fresh View On Incorp. at Annual Meet

"ABOVE AND BEYOND"—Orinda Association President Harry Fledderman (left) presents a desk pen set to Richard Bartle at the annual meeting Monday night. Bartle served as chairman of the association's civic affairs committee for six years. He still serves on the committee. He was recently elected trustee for the Orinda Union School District.

Campolindo Pool Can't be Built for 2-3 Years Yet

"A swimming pool at Campolindo High School is at least two or three years off," Acalanes Union High School District trustees told Campolindo parent club representatives Charles Ivy and Walt Gritser Wednesday night.

Ross Reagan, assistant superintendent for business, stated "current district bond funds are allocated to classroom construction and bond money for a future pool for Campolindo would have to wait the district's next bond election."

Board member William Lee said that community support of a pool at Campolindo would probably accelerate construction, but board members cautioned that the experience of waiting until a new high school has been operative for about four years prior to building a pool would probably hold true for Campolindo as well.

TRUSTEE Mrs. Alla Knudsen suggested that in the interim an arrangement might be worked out with Carroll Ranch or some other nearby plunge for use by Campolindo swimmers.

Del Valle High students have had the rental of the Dewing Park Pool awaiting construction of their new swim facility.

Ivy, representing the parents, asked if the board were willing to set aside $100,000 from whatever future bond construction funds it might have for a Campolindo pool.

Superintendent Neil Parsons replied that it was difficult at this time to say what such a facility might cost.

HE NOTED that the "Acalanes High pool was built by WPA and with the assistance of community drives, pools were built at Las Lomas for about $50,000, at Miramonte for $65,000, and a contract has just been let for Del Valle for $79,000.

Site problems also affect the eventual price, he said.

In other action this week Acalanes Union High School District trustees:

Can Transit Suit Cost Plaintiffs If They've Lost?

Powell, Jim Dagnall and Marilyn Alexander of Miramonte High, and Harold Smith and Jose Coleman of Las Lomas High.

APPROVED a call for bids for two school buses estimated to cost $16,270 plus $178 for additional bus equipment. One bus is to be paid for by the high school district and one by the Moraga Elementary District in the combined fleet operated by the high schools and the Moraga, Orinda and Lafayette elementary districts.

Sanctioned use of the Acalanes football field by the sheriff's men's group for a benefit circus.

CALLED for bids for six tennis courts, two each to be built at Acalanes, Miramonte and Del Valle High Schools, bringing the average court installation at each high school to six.

Went on file as still opposed to an appeal made to county's board of adjustments by Anthony Lagiss for installation of a three-minute car wash on property opposite Acalanes High School. Two car wash requests had previously been turned down by the board of supervisors. The initial application had also been opposed by Quandt and Reliez Valley resident groups.

Topic: Pleasant Hill's New Experiment in Govt.

By JANE PUTNAM

"To achieve a desired level of services at the least cost with a minimum respect for traditions and trappings."

The goal of Pleasant Hill's "new experiment in government" was described this way by its city manager, Leland Walton.

He was principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Orinda Association Monday night in the Orinda School auditorium.

By "traditions and trappings" Walton referred to such status symbols as specialized city uniforms and equipment. These were forever gone, he stated, in Pleasant Hill's effort to get "more with less."

IN INTRODUCTORY remarks, Association President Harry Fledderman stated that the association wasn't trying to "sell incorporation" for Orinda. A 10-man incorporation committee named by the association is currently studying the matter.

"I don't know what conclusions we'll reach..." Walter Treanor, chairman of the committee told the audience, "but they'll be honest..."

The committee's goal, Fledderman said, was to come up with "an objective set of facts." He asked that the audience refrain from a "free for all" debate on the merits of incorporation, but during the question period.

Walton was introduced as a man with "new, young, fresh ideas..." He attended the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California.

For four years, he was manager of Rolling Hills Estates in the Palos Verdes section of Southern California. The 50 cents city tax was eliminated entirely during his administration. Nor does Pleasant Hill have a city tax.

"NO ONE HAS ever found a substitute for local government," Walton said. However, he stated he was not advocating incorporation for Orinda, but giving one man's views on one city's government.

Although the city was not a new form of government, he referred to the type of approach used in Pleasant Hill as an "experiment" as opposed to the old form.

The old form didn't keep up with technological advances "til after World War II. Unless it is able to meet the challenges... demand for services... it will be lost in the backwash of progress," said Walton.

THE "EXPERIMENT" is "a search for rationality... search for solutions in metropolitan government."

He described as one of his favorite theses: "Bigness in itself does not create efficiency." Loss of local control and redress of grievances he cited as disadvantages in an unincorporated area.

Although many special districts operated "in good faith," where there was a division of authority, he stated that there was "lack of coordination" and "single purpose." Many special districts have been maintained in Pleasant Hill. "The business of eliminating special districts is a long-range program."

"If cities are going to survive, they are going to have to join the twentieth century," said

LELAND WALTON
Fresh viewpoint

the dynamic, young city administrator.

If not, cities as we know them, will cease to exist. Control will revert to the state or federal government, he believes.

PLEASANT HILL is "applying 20th century big business tactics to city government," Walton explained that the administrators are putting themselves in the places of the board of directors in a private corporation.

He likened the electorate to the stockholders. It is their prerogative, he said, to demand of the administration what they would of any well run business.

Walton listed three major theories which are being employed in Pleasant Hill's "experiment":

1. Basically, the city is managed by a professional.

2. Budget is not by expenditure.

3. Competitive bidding is practiced.

IN THE LATTER, he said, "cost is compared to services."

"The Lakewood Plan" of contracting within municipal services is employed. The aim, he described as "better service at the least cost."

"What could be contracted?" Walton answered his own question by citing examples of contractable units such as engineering, street maintenance, street construction, etc.

To avoid "hills and valleys" of personnel employment, Walton said the Pleasant Hill staff was kept to a minimum. For instance, the city engineer was doing practically "no engineering."

He was doing coordination and supervision in obtaining contracts on the open market, according to Walton. These contracts were awarded by competitive bid. Not just from the county, but from private firms as well.

One of the advantages of this system, he said, was flexibility... "to adapt to the needs of the community... to increase or decrease."

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

I'll Remember April . . .

I'LL REMEMBER APRIL, alright, for what the wet weather did to my own spring garden show. . . . The big old azalea bush no sooner came into full springtime glory than the April Rain burdened it down, bent-over & flowers browned.

I'll Remember April . . . for the Wet Easter Vacation when spirits were dampened by the dreary weather without . . . & the constant wail of the children, w/their games & friends underfoot, "What's there to do?"

I'LL REMEMBER APRIL & deciding to leave the King Alfred daffodils & tulips for bloom in the garden & then lamenting it later when they prostrated themselves to the ground because of the high winds & heavy rain.

I'll remember a front porch full of water-logged sneakers & muddy boots & shoes, constantly bringing the baby's toys in, then out, then in again & once in the middle of the sudden-rainy night, alerting a son to help put everything outside under cover. "Bring in Holly & Betsy," I hollered, never thinking that a sixteen-year old boy, naturally might not know the names of the dolls in his baby sister's "family". . .

I'll remember feeling sorry for the cows whiplashed by the wind on the green hills . . . & no sooner having washed the windows one bright day than having the Oak Tree Spray people turn up for the annual job that leaves everything filmed slightly in white. (Par for the course!)

I'll remember the not-so-silent Spring w/the sound of the caterpillars crunching on the oak leaves at night. Listen hard & you can really hear them.

AFTER THE SPRAY job, I'll remember caterpillars, caterpillars everywhere . . . & in my hair . . . & making baby's first jar-collection of the creepy crawly dying things.

I'll remember Open House at Miramonte & walking unprepared into the physiology room where they were dissecting a cat & a turtle . . . & walking quickly out again. I'll remember my own daughter wondering Where, Oh Where could she get a LUNG for Open House. . . . & Tony (TV Meats) coming through w/same. Thank!

I'll remember the fun of listening to tapes in the French class & the tremendous display of arts & crafts at Miramonte's Open House. . . . What terrific things the young people turn out! A lot of future art careers were certainly in evidence. . .

I remember thinking that Claudia Powell & Gordon Pagnello seemed to excel in all mediums. . . . Mike Gilmore, too. . . . Oh, so many others! It was enough to make you want to go back to school all over again. . .

I'LL REMEMBER the California Spring Garden Show . . . the innovation of a round redwood sundeck under the tall redwood trees bound to be copied by many a suburban homeowners. Someone nearby remarked that it was a perfect "postage-sized" dance floor. . . . as long as you didn't dance barefoot. It being redwood, Ouch!

I'll remember one of the show's attractions—the Wells Fargo wagon covered w/chicken wire & serving as an enclosure for some 200 canaries. . . . & the aloof little pooch (Pomeranian?) who served as watchdog from his place of repose in the driver's seat. . . . The quaint peak-roofed Gazebo under the redwoods would be at home anywhere. . . . I remember the individual flower arrangements, almost all stark & modern & wondering what ever happened to an old-fashioned May Basket entry?

I'LL REMEMBER April & one sunny day looking down the backhill to find the weeds grown as high as an elephant's eye. . . . Aren't you glad May is on its way?

& a few other things . . .

TWO ORINDA LADIES, strangers to one another, sat under the driers at Orinda Beauty Shop having their hair done. You know how it is. This kind of gives you the feeling you know the other, even if you don't. That night at the Spring Garden Show Preview, Virginia Block smiled at Dee Seifert & said "Your hair looks beautiful." The well-coiffed Dee returned the compliment, "Yours looks good, too." To think they were strangers until a hairdrier brought them together.

IT'S THE LITTLE Things that count like Barbara Wayne being completely surprised on her B'day. . . . After a tiddly-toast at Henrietta Den Dulk's, about ten of her friends took Barbara to the Terrace Tearoom for lunch & a special B'day cake.

ANOTHER B'DAY for the Charles Kerstens' youngest Holly. It doesn't seem possible, but the blonde curly-haired lass celebrated her 4th last Saturday w/the neighborhood moppets in for lunch & punch.

Many light hands are making much missing merchandise around town & let's face it, it's pretty sad any place but especially occurring in our area where the kids have just about everything or more than they need! What they NEED is a reviewing of the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Steal." Also a good woodshed work-out when they commit the first offense. Scare the livin' daylights out of them!

It would be a sad commentary on our own community if we had to keep all the kids out of the stores simply because a few spoil it for the others "to look around." Too many children, according to the store merchants, are being left at the Crossroads to spend 3 or 4 hrs on their own while Mom and Dad do other things. Sounds like the old "baby-sitting" ritual that used to prevail at Orinda Theater, another time when parents who knew better let their moppets sit through two, three times the same movie.

NEW EGGHEAD UNIFORM at Miramonte: The brass-buttoned Navy Pea Coats the kids are finding in father's closet or buying at the surplus stores. On the lapels, KPFA or "Ban the Bomb" buttons.

"WHERE ARE THEY NOW?" is the question Chrmn. Mel Nickerson asked his Reunion (Berkeley High Alumni, Class of 1928) Committee the other night. . . . the session went on 'til 2:30 in the morning. If you can help out on the whereabouts of some of those Young Grads, please contact Mel at 254-5190, 6 La Sombra Court. . . . The October Reunion (35 YEARS!) will be at the Claremont Hotel.

OLD SCHOOL TIES have caught Fenn Wilson on a committee for the Berkeley High School Alumni Reunion of classes '36-'40. It shouldn't be too difficult catching those w/so many living right in this area.

ST. STEPHEN'S SCHOOL will hold its Open House next Monday, 8-9:30, according to Parents' Club prexy Mary Merrill. In September, the school adds a Nursery School to its Kdngtn. through Third Grades.

ORINDA NURSERY SCHOOL'S 14th annual Spring Informal Dinner Dance will be held May 4 at Orinda Country Club. It's nice to know they're closer to home these days. . . . Remember the long trips over the past 14 yrs. to Diablo when the traditional dance was traditionally there? Gordon Heche's Ork. plays, tkts. are going for $7.50 per person & you can't BEAT the Country Club Food!

"TREASURES FROM VERSAILLES" is the something diff from Lombardy Branch who present un coup d'etat w/the showing of 18th Century Objects d'art at the Palace of the Legion of Honor, S.F. May 28.

A daytime affair, the ladies will rendez-vous at 9:15 a.m., Orinda Country Club, depart from there by bus at 9:30 (a la dot) & return at 3 p.m. The unusual day includes "le déjeuner au parc," $5.00. . . .

"THE HECK WITH Pres. Kennedy's 50-mile hike," writes Ensign Robert Wolcott, "I walked around the world in two seconds. . . ." The reason that the son of Melba & Bob Wolcott of Sleepy Hollow could accomplish this feat is that he's on duty ("Operation Deep Freeze") w/the USN in the Antarctic. At 10,000 ft. alt., Rob & a friend hung on to each other for dear life as they were buffeted by gale winds at the South Pole marker.

Tomorrow night's Flower Ball will be chairedman by former Orindan Jean Portello, now living in Lafayette. Working w/her is Yolande Eldred, another Medical Women's Auxiliary member, who is doing the publicity chores.

DRAGON POLISHING — Children's Fairyland's "Little Elf" Barbara Allen, eight (top of ladder) and her sister, Judy, 10, who is "Goldilocks" get the beast ready for the opening day of Fairyland, recently. Queen Kathy Falls, 10, rules the Lake-side Park, Oakland, domain. The Allen girls are daughters of the Norwood Allens, 118 Scenic Drive, Orinda.

Dragon Center

Here is one of the most exclusive, selective clubs in Orinda. Membership is limited to seven Selby Hollow boys. Their ages range from seven to 11 years.

You can tell a Dragon by his sweatshirt. If "Dragon Center" is drawn on it with crayon, the boy is "in."

Criteria for charter membership in the center was quite demanding. Work!

Last January, the boys began the clubhouse. There was no blueprint. Although the finished product may well earn an architectural award. Twelve feet tall, it has a sun deck and pent house. A bunk bed. Cement floor with bricks.

It is located in the back yard of the home of Mrs. Doris Moylan, 25 El Gavi lan, Orinda. Mrs. Moylan states that during the construction period there has "never been a problem."

The boys are not allowed in the yard unless an adult is home.

During school, they worked in shifts. One group came home at 3 p.m., another at 4 p.m. During Easter vacation, they worked constantly putting on the finishing touches.

Most of the wood came from a house under construction nearby. The boys used "only scraps" with permission, according to Mrs. Moylan. However, she noted that a "STAY AWAY" sign went out last week.

Members of Dragon Center are: Robert Moylan, John and Michael Brubaker, Michael Cunningham, Michael Lowery, Raymond Palanico and Andy Schmidt.

Like all of the best clubs — Dragon Center has a secret door.

EBMUD Option Extended

Extension of one year on an option to buy six and one-fourth acres adjacent to the Orinda Association land was announced at the association's annual meeting Monday night.

The nearly 10 acres which is owned by the association for community use is a proposed station site location for East Bay Rapid Transit District.

The adjoining parcel is owned by East Bay Municipal Utility District.

The association's land committee stated that it is hopeful that within the year, it will specifically know what the transit district intends to do regarding the association land.

Community use of the land, on Camino Pablo at the crossroads, has been discussed by Orindans for years.

Wallace Gets OK For Two Utah Signs

Clark Wallace, Orinda Realtor, was given permission to put up two subdivision advertising signs.

The county board of adjustment approved Wallace's application April 10 for a period of 18 months.

Location of the signs for Utah Construction Company, owners, will be on the east side of St. Mary's Road, between Moraga Road and Moraga Way intersection.

Mean Persons? We Have 'Em

The county's meanest culprits are sought by sheriff's deputies.

Anthony Chilton, 12, of 42 Haciendas, Orinda, went into his back yard and found six of his 17 pigeons killed.

Their heads had been pulled off.

At Hillside Covenant Church, 2060 Magnolia Way, Walnut Creek, mud ball-throwers stood outside and hurled their weapons at one wall, badly splattering it.

Deputies said no windows were broken but at least 150 of the hard-packed balls had banged the wall.

Incorporation

said that there wasn't much for residents "to put their fingers on." There were no "City of Pleasant Hill" police uniforms or cars or public works crews with which to identify.

POLICE PROTECTION, since incorporation, has increased 300 per cent, he said. Formerly, one patrol car patrolled an area twice the size of the city. The patrol area has been reduced by half and one patrol car has been added.

Walton said that there were plans for adding one "bicycle" in the near future. "People are getting what they want."

The goal of street maintenance was "to correct all deficiencies." He said that $150,000 had been spent so far in widening and improving one end of Contra Costa Boulevard.

"It was headed for another San Pablo Avenue. . . ." but Walton said further improvement will make it a "show piece." A side benefit was the ability to name one's own streets as the city did when it substituted "boulevard" for "Contra Costa Highway."

A MASTER PLAN is well on its way, Walton stated.

He also stated that Pleasant Hill citizens were becoming well aware of the fact that they could walk two blocks down the street and yell at the city manager!

The current population of Pleasant Hill is about 26,000. Walton said the potential population was 40,000. There are approximately 20 businesses.

WALTON GAVE the following annual figures:

The revenue is $600,000. Sales tax provides $200,000. State subsidies provide $240,000. The rest comes from business license tax, gasoline tax, fines, fees, permits, miscellaneous.

He gave comparative figures of per capita expenditures in various fields, such as street maintenance. Pleasant Hill, at $4.68 per capita, was almost half of the lowest, as compared to other cities in the county.

Per capita cost of general government is $3.52. This is $10 in El Cerrito, and went up to $33 in one city, according to Walton.

"The first year's figures he did not regard as 'too important.' After four years—"that's the test."

Mel Nielsen Goes to Washington

Mel Nielsen of the county's board of supervisors left for Washington to confer with government officials over county matters.

Some problems occupying his attention include:

1. The San Luis Project. ("We're worried over how much salinity will be deposited in the Delta.")

2. The Kellogg Dam ("We're fearful that it might keep the off-shore water supply from us.")

3. FINANCIAL AID for improvements to Las Trampas Creek and the Walnut Creek Watershed. ("If we don't do something about these two, we're going to have a real problem in the next year or two.")

4. The Nike site in Tilden Park. ("The county wants first choice for this property. It shouldn't be sold through a private realty firm. We can get the area cheap. We might use it for recreation or even as a place for neglected children. Our juvenile situation in the county is pretty bad.")

Ken White Is Merit Scholar

Kennon P. White, III was named winner this week of a Harvey Mudd College merit scholarship in nationwide competition.

Ken is a senior at Miramonte High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kennon P. White, Jr., 6 Bates Boulevard, Orinda.

Physics will be Ken's major at Harvey Mudd College, a small, independent college in Claremont with curricular emphasis in physical science and engineering.

Ken plans a career as a research physicist.

During his junior year, he received the Yale Book Award for 1961-62, and the mathematical association of America award.

He was a member of Miramonte's winning team at the county math contest sponsored by the American Association of University Women in 1962.

Education Assoc. Elects Orindan

William A. Hendrickson, 126 Scenic Drive, Orinda, was recently elected president of the newly organized Educational Association of California.

Hendrickson, who is superintendent of the Oakley Union School District, was elected at the association's constitutional convention in Fresno.

THE GROUP voted to oppose all proposed "Robin Hood" type of county-wide school tax equalization bills pending in the state legislature.

Trustees of Orinda Union School District and the Lafayette School District recently voted to endorse assembly bill 388 which is sometimes referred to as a "Robin Hood" bill.

"There is a definite need for an organized effort by educators who have an awareness of their obligation to lead in strengthening the academic program in schools and to restore moral and intellectual content," Hendrickson said.

The "Children's Hour" is the title chosen for the book program Saturday at the Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Elsa Nieman will present "Dear Papa" to the congregation and their friends.

"A Christian filled library is the goal of the church. Since each member and child will not enjoy it but want to share in it it was arranged to have the program introduced and explained at a book review for everyone," said Chairman Mrs. Lloyd Ludwig.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Kay Koorman for decorations and Mmes. Esther Shepard, Frank Jones, Curt Silver and D. Spitzer.

Invitations were issued to the children last Sunday in the form of a bookmark cross. Book worms will be featured in the decor to be used on Saturday morning, Mrs. Koorman stated.

Since a large attendance is expected Mrs. Ludwig felt that refreshments would be served as guests arrive to allow time for exploration of the books already on hand and those suggested for use in the library. A free will offering will be offered.

Those interested in purchasing books to aid the library will have the opportunity to do so at this time.

Discrimination Issue Boils Over in Suburbia

From the heartland of effective segregated suburbia this week came a strong reaction to the Contra Costa Board of Realtors' "Property Owners Bill of Rights."

A column by Sun Editor-Publisher Herman Silverman which suggested that it was too simple "to use the real estate interests as whipping boys" was also criticized.

The reaction was one of strong opposition to the Realtors' stand. It came from Orinda where spokesmen for the Orinda Council for Civic Unity charged the "bill" denied rather than guaranteed rights of property.

AND IT CAME from Orinda in a letter from a 17-year-old boy who cited the absence of Negro classmates as proof that segregation exists "and that we must take action."

The reaction also challenged Silverman's assessment of the Berkeley Housing Ordinance. "The real estate brokers' recent attempts to define property rights have a vague and hollow sound," wrote Charles D. Wagner in a statement issued by the Orinda council board.

The reason is that while they set forth some so-called rights that might appeal to many people of the white majority, there is a notable omission of a very important right.

"THAT RIGHT is for the non-white minority to seek and purchase or rent dwellings in any area," the statement went on.

"Thoughtful people will therefore question whether the intent of the real estate community is not the preservation of segregated housing."

The council noted that it was unfair to assume that all real estate people practice racial discrimination.

But, the statement concluded, "When we see progressive action by the leadership of brokers' organizations to combat racial discrimination, we shall cease to be suspicious of high-sounding resolutions from them."

AT THE SAME time, the council's housing chairman, Phyllis Simon, wrote the editor that "a more careful study of the Berkeley Fair Housing Ordinance would have shown that provisions were made for not only mediation and conciliation, but, as a last resort, due process of law through recourse to the courts."

"Much is made of this 'right-to-sell' idea, yet realtors in most instances try not to let an owner have any contact with a buyer for fear the deal will be 'queered.' The right-to-sell claim, then, is but a cover-up for a person to exercise his prejudices and discriminate on the grounds of color," Mrs. Simon wrote.

BOTH MRS. SIMON and the council charged the real estate lobby with campaigning against fair housing laws.

Young Mike Yedida of Orinda wrote:

"I hope that you would not agree with those who feel that the problem will work out by itself."

"I am 17 years old and have lived in Orinda all my life. Yet I have never seen a Negro in attendance at our schools.

"I think this is proof enough that the problem will not work out by itself and that we must take action."

YEDIDA referred to a statement by Real Estate Board Executive Secretary Roger Jernigan that "Our position is not intended to be discriminatory on the basis of race; we want to guarantee certain basic property rights to all."

"In considering this man's statement," Yedida wrote, "I believe that it can be paraphrased as: We do not want to discriminate; we merely want the right to discriminate."

The youth conceded that "Realtors alone are not solely responsible for discrimination in housing."

But, he said, Realtors have, through the issuance of their bill of rights, "clearly indicated their opposition to any legal attempt to end discrimination in housing."

"THEREFORE they, themselves, are solely responsible for any blame they may receive."

"I would like," the high school boy concluded, "to criticize those people who claim, 'I am against discrimination, but—'

"These people profess to be against discrimination and yet they oppose any action designed to eliminate the evil."

The reaction to the "bill" first came from the Fair Play Council two weeks ago when it praised Realtor Harry Stylos of Walnut Creek for his public opposition to the statement endorsed by the board.

Executive Secretary Jernigan, who said recently the board might consider a reply to the Fair Play Council statement, could not be reached for comment.

Supvs. Still Can't Decide on Own Lines

10:30 a.m., Tuesday.

That's when the county's board of supervisors probably will decide whether or not they themselves will re-district the supervisory lines.

Action appeared imminent last Tuesday but then the supervisors held off on the important matter—all because Mel Nielsen, one of their members who represents a portion of the central county area, was on a business trip to Washington, D.C.

ONE SUPERVISOR has already indicated he definitely will not vote for the group to re-district their own lines. That's Ed Linscheid of Pittsburg.

"I'm not for it," he said Tuesday.

Despite what the supervisors may not do, two matters are already at hand insofar as re-districting is concerned.

On Monday a taxpayer's suit, filed by Lafayette Attorney

Harold Mutnick, is to start in Contra Costa County Superior Court.

His suit is an effort to make it mandatory for the supervisors to re-district their own territories.

MUTNICK contends that the current districting is unconstitutional and void, violating both state and federal constitutions. The present supervisory districts were established in 1873.

And 27 civic leaders throughout the county have filed a notice of intention to circulate an initiative referendum with the supervisors.

More than 33,000 names will have to be obtained to the petition so that the problem can be disposed of by voters at an early fall election.

Norman Kestner, chairman of the petition committee, has indicated that petition-signing will start about May 4. As many as 500 volunteer workers may be involved in the movement.

AT TUESDAY'S meeting of the supervisors, James Kenny, board chairman, told the three other members (Nielsen was absent) that the group should be the authority to change the boundary lines.

In the past he has been joined by Supervisor Thomas Coll, but Nielsen, Linscheid and Joe Silva have out-voted them.

The current population breakdown of districts is:

NO. 1 (KENNY), 165,000; No. 2 (Nielsen), 53,000; No. 3 (Coll), 124,000; No. 4 (Linscheid), 35,000; and No. 5 (Silva), 32,000.

The citizens' group has argued that one supervisory district should be eliminated from the county's sparsely-populated eastern district and removed to the more populous western area.

Thus, the supervisors have again agreed to see what they can come up with on re-districting at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

'We'll Build That Hotel'—Stockman

"We're all ready to put up our big airport motel. All we need is a reassignment of the lease."

This was the statement made to The Sun yesterday by James Stockman, president of Trans Western Hotels, who hopes to build a large facility costing more than $14 million at Buchanan Airport.

On Tuesday Stockman pleaded before the county's board of supervisors that his firm has ample banking to take over the lease from the Signal Development Company and build the hotel.

A TELEGRAM was read the supervisors whereby Signal said it was willing to have the lease reassigned to Stockman's firm.

Signal has already forfeited $50,000, the bid amount it originally paid for the lease.

Stockman in his speech before the supervisors said that some $40,000 to $50,000 has already been committed for the enterprise and that architectural plans are almost three-fourths complete.

THE ORIGINAL idea was for Signal to construct the hotel and then lease it, to Trans Western, operators of the Edgewater Inn in Oakland and seven other large hotels throughout the state.

Stockman said that the Edgewater Inn in Oakland returns more than $40,000 annually to that city. He estimates that if he operates the hotel at Buchanan Airport it will return almost $30,000 annually to Contra Costa County.

He told The Sun that his group, if it obtains the lease, will build 100 units "with plenty of room for expansion," cabanas, large swimming pool, a membership club and a 750-seat convention hall.

THE LEASE winner at the airport site will hold the ground for 25 years and be allowed to extend the lease for another 25 years.

James Barrington, a Pasadena architect, is drawing up the plans.

Stockman indicated to the Signal's withdrawal from the board of supervisors that with project there will be no ill effect on the plans and specifications.

BOARD CHAIRMAN James Kenny said, "Mr. Stockman has an excellent reputation. I'm all for transferring the lease right now."

Supervisor Thomas Coll, however, was of a different mind. "I think we should open up new bidding for the lease," he said.

Coll was mindful of the fact that the Concord Inn might be interested in bidding if that is done again.

Outside the chambers, Stockman told The Sun, "The Concord Inn has already undergone two expansions."

THE HOTEL chain owner said that if he were given the lease his firm could get construction under way within 60 days and the giant new hotel could be opened "before Christmas."

The supervisors decided, however, to withhold any action until the county's airport committee can render a report to them in another week.

Unresolved: Will We Get Machine

The county's board of supervisors is still perplexed over what to do about buying an electronic-type voting machine to cut election-time tabulating costs.

When it appeared Tuesday that the group might (just might) authorize the purchase of the $850,000 Coleman unit other firms stepped in and indicated that they would also like to do business with the county.

SO A DEMONSTRATION of several of the fast-tabulating units is to be held in the board's chambers at 2 p.m. Tuesday with the supervisors then probably to render some kind of a decision probably on May 14.

A letter was received by the supervisors that the Automatic Voting Machine Co. ("the leader in the field") wants to talk to the county.

And at Tuesday's meeting Paul Linerode of the Shoup Machine Co. of New York made a personal appearance. He said that his firm has been in business for 30 years and their machines are being used in 34 states.

A UNIVERSITY of California engineering professor, Joseph P. Harris, also appeared before the board and said that he represented a group which was con-cocting a new gadget ("it records the vote on a tabulating card") but that the machine wouldn't be available "for a few months."

James Olsson, the county's election clerk, had previously reported to the board that the Coleman electronic unit could save as much as $78,000 for the county at a single election. He said that it would reduce the number of precinct workers needed for election time, and would greatly speed up the vote count.

Under the county's present antiquated system, the vote-counting in some precincts sometimes requires all night and even far into the following morning.

COUNTY Administrator J. P. McBrien has indicated to the supervisors that an electronic vote-counting machine, which ever one it is, can be installed in the Hall of Records at Martinez after many of the department have moved to the new 12-story administration building now being constructed.

He has said that such a unit probably could be installed in the basement of the Hall of Records.

THE COUNTY is at the moment considering whether or not to recommend to the governor's office that an eighth Superior Court jurist be appointed.

The present supervisors' chambers could be used as a new courtroom, if the request is ever made and ever granted.

VD Rate Continues To Rise

Although the reported incidence of syphilis fell in March from last year's levels, reports of venereal disease continued to increase rapidly with gonorrhea almost doubling.

There were 71 cases of gonorrhea reported in the county last month, compared to 37 in March, 1962.

Some 46 of these cases were reported in the west county area, while central and eastern Contra Costa made up the difference.

Only 24 cases of syphilis were reported, five of them in the central county area, compared to 33 last year.

In all, 286 cases of vd have been reported by March 31 this year, compared to 205 in the same period last year.

Time Switch Is Sunday; Set Clocks Ahead Hour

Just so this appalling catastrophe (above) doesn't happen to you Monday morning, remember to set your clocks ahead one hour this weekend.

Officially, you should advance the hands of your timepiece at midnight Saturday to 1 a.m. Sunday.

We'd advise you cheat a little and do it before you retire.

What's happening is that we're going on to daylight savings time.

SOME OF YOUR friends will argue that we've been on daylight savings time and we're going back to regular time.

Don't be misled by wild claims—there is only one genuine savings time and we're going on it. For those commuters not auto-bound, a reminder that the state-wide time-shift will affect airline, train and bus scheduling.

TRANSPORTATION firms urge customers to check new time-tables or consult agents to make sure of arrival and departure times. Greyhound buses and most trains and air lines will operate on the new time, but cross-country trains will not.

IF THE WHOLE business seems too confusing, call your boss and members of the car pool and tell them you won't be in for a few days.

You might find you've solved your time problem for good.

Is Losing Hour Saving Time?

SPRING AHEAD, FALL BACK—If the Daylight Savings Time byword is no help to you Sunday at 1 a.m. when you're supposed to set your clock ahead one hour, Pacific Telephone equipment man Tom Turner is solving your problems. He shows pretty operator Vivian Coleman how to advance the company's audichron machine, San Francisco source of the voice you hear when you dial the time. Taxpayers Fight Tax Opposition to the proposed school district tax rate by the amount of the countywide property tax rate," the president said.

"IF THE NEW tax is greater than the amount allotted to the state in school equalization aid, and cuts into a school district's revenue, the district may levy an additional property tax to recover the loss without requiring a vote of the people," Slagle claimed.

He said the association "considers a raise in property taxes for school purposes without approval of the people an unreasonable use of administrative authority."

The association has urged the county's legislators in Sacramento to oppose this proposed program.

Both Senator George Miller and Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie (10th Dist.) have spoken against the two bills.

AB 888, the Crown bill, is backed by Governor Edmund G. Brown, and would provide about $55 million additional school monies, about half from the countywide tax, the balance in state aid.

AB 1000, Garrigus, has the support of the California Teachers Association and the State Board of Education. It would raise around $100 million, only one-fourth from countywide taxes.

The Crown bill has passed the Assembly Education Committee; Assemblyman Waldie has said the more expensive Garrigus bill, at least, will not pass both houses.

Telephone Rate Probe To Go On In Los Angeles

Central county area Pacific Telephone Manager Howard Greenhalgh has re-emphasized points made by unofficial sources and related by The Sun last week regarding rate and service changes for Lafayette-Orinda.

No recent study has indicated the feasibility of moving the Grinda-Lafayette exchange lines, first set up in 1938, Greenhalgh said.

"An enlargement of the Lafayette extended area to include all or portions of other exchanges would involve questions of acceptability—in terms of dollars and cents as well as service—to the large majority of telephone users affected, since telephone service is at least a two-way matter not only to Lafayetteans but also to users who would be calling Lafayette," Greenhalgh said.

Hearings on Pacific Telephone rates by the State Public Utilities Commission end today in San Francisco, but will continue shortly in Los Angeles, The Sun learned this week.

PUC Examiner William W. Dunlop, Pleasant Hill, told The Sun the probe would continue for "several months" during rebuttals by the utility and cross-examination by PUC. The timetable means that the commission will continue to include in its consideration any correspondence regarding rate or service changes.

Last week Thomas Whitten, Lafayette, initiated a campaign for what he hopes will be a feasibility study to enlarge Lafayette and Orinda's calling area.

EXAMINER Dunlop said he could not mention specifics, but conceded several studies "are in the mill" to investigate results of rate and service charges in the Bay Area and elsewhere.

Letters addressed to the commission in San Francisco, attention Case Number 7409, could influence the area of local rate studies, Dunlop said.

Falk Predicts PH-Concord Test Facility in '65

A rapid transit test line between Pleasant Hill and Concord is "far from being a firm proposal," Assistant Information Director George MacDonald told The Sun yesterday.

"Our engineers like the site because it offers a variety of challenges and the chance to construct a variety of structures," MacDonald said.

"But the board has not yet received a report from the engineers; final location of the test facility will require action by the board," he said.

Bay Area Rapid Transit District President Adrien J. Falk said Wednesday the 4½-mile section would be in by 1965.

Falk told the Western Conference of the American Transit Association Wednesday in section "will undoubtedly be the foremost center of new transit research in existence."

He said experiments will be conducted on various types of cars, propulsion equipment, automatic control devices and a number of track and road-bed structures.

IF LEGAL roadblocks are removed soon, the district president said, BARTD will be able to conduct tests for two years before starting commercial operations.

Engineers have selected the area between Pleasant Hill and Concord for various reasons.

The right-of-way can be obtained from one property owner, the Sacramento Northern Railroad.

The section of line involved includes both aerial and surface construction.

And the line possesses a variety of topographical challenges.

FALK SAID the section would

Brothers Save Life of Young Man in Southland

Two Orinda brothers were credited with saving the life of a young man during Easter vacation. Their quick and correct action undoubtedly saved the victim's life," according to the Santa Monica police and ambulance crew.

Dale and Richard Newhouse, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Newhouse, 155 Canon Drive, Orinda, were visiting relatives in Santa Monica. They were on their way to play peewee golf, driving along Wilshire Boulevard, when they happened on an accident.

THEIR SISTER Helen and cousin Rosemary Gordon were in the car. "Everybody was standing around and nobody was doing anything," said Richard. So the quartet of young people crossed over Wilshire Boulevard and "did what they could."

A young man was pinned in his vehicle. He was bleeding profusely. The brothers bent back the body of the vehicle so that the victim could be removed.

Richard, 16, a recent graduate of the Greater Mt. Diablo Red Cross course in emergency first aid, applied pressure to stop the arterial bleeding. There were three deep gashes on the victim's left leg.

DALE CHECKED injuries. He found the victim going into shock and suffering from a compound fracture of the upper part of his left leg.

While the brothers cared for his injuries, their sister Helen and cousin comforted him and treated him for shock.

About 10 minutes later, the ambulance rushed the victim to the hospital where emergency surgery was performed and transfusions given.

Dr. Newhouse is a doctor of industrial arts. He is a supervisor with the Oakland school department.

RICHARD "might be interested in studying medicine," according to his mother. His first aid training was part of the requirement of his Sea Scout training.

Richard is a student at Miramonte High School. Dale returned home recently after serving four years in the Navy.

Both he and Helen attend Diablo Valley College. Condition of the victim, who was a delivery boy, about 19 years of age, was not revealed to the Newhouses by the hospital.

Plan 'F' Ok'd For Laf., W.C. -- Quorum Present

There was a quorum. And the Augmented County Committee for School District Reorganization meeting in Lafayette, passed a recommendation for unification of the Lafayette and Walnut Creek Districts.

Tuesday, the committee will be augmented by representatives from Orinda, Moraga and Canyon districts, and is expected to pass the recommendation again at that time.

Earlier approval of Plan "F," was determined invalid for lack of a quorum at an augmented committee meeting.

Tuesday's meeting will be held in Pine Grove School.

Obituaries

MARK BEHRING, Funeral services were conducted last week for a two-year-old Orinda youngster.

Mark Behring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerd U. Behring, 365 Glorietta Boulevard, died April 12 after a fall in his home.

The Orinda fire department was summoned at 4:05 p.m. after Mrs. Behring noticed that the napping child was not breathing. After resuscitation was administered he was rushed to Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Walnut Creek. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

The child had hit the back of his head about noon. He seemed a little dizzy; however he acted normal, according to his mother. The coroner's autopsy did not reveal that the fall was cause of death.

Hats Off To...

Joan Kasten, Orindan And Branch Librarian

AN ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT of the Dewey Decimal System, please, for Joan Kasten, branch librarian who supervises a staff of six and presides over some 25,000 volumes on the Orinda Library bookshelves.

Praising the handsome library building erected with community funds under the chairmanship of Perc S. Brown, civic leader and noted collector of books and manuscripts, Mrs. Kasten enthused how she never feels "shut in" or confined because of the light, outdoorsy feeling of the library interior. "And what's better company than books?"

"IT'S VERY rewarding to work in an area where the community is so library-conscious. Five hundred books are the average daily take-out and that's some record—equal to one book per person per month in the area."

With the closing of National Library Week (April 21-28), the Orinda librarian ventured a reminder that a special Spring Story Hour program for all school children. It will be at the library tomorrow at 11 a.m. Mrs. Sharon Sturch, Orinda children's librarian and Miss Joan Shepard, Concord children's librarian, will be the storytellers.

WHEN it comes to her own catholic tastes, Joan admits to liking everything but sometimes going off on a "tangent." She confided that she has to wait for the best sellers just like all the rest of the card-carrying customers. (County rule.) To read the "The Guns of August," for instance, both she and her husband had to sign up for it, twice.

A NATIVE daughter who did all her schooling in Berkeley, she's a U.C. graduate and mastered library lore at Columbia University, New York.

A resident of Orinda for the past five years, she's the mother of Sandy, 11 and Randy, 8. Since the entire family is fond of theater, they're all Dramateurs' boosters.

Randy is now rehearsing for one of the two parts in the award-winning play by Orindan Paul Faria (to be produced by Dramateurs over KRON-TV).

Joan's husband, George Kasten, appeared in the recent "Inherit the Wind" production along with daughter Sandy.

He will appear in the forthcoming "Merchants of Venice." He was a candidate for the Acalanes School Board in the recent election.

Orindans In Campus Spotlight

From all over the country, in all fields of college endeavor, Orindians rank high.

Following are some young Orindians in the campus spotlight recently:

ANNE RODDEE of Orinda was one of the members of the University of Pacific A Cappella Choir featured for the 25th consecutive year at Easter Sunrise Services at Yosemite National Park.

ROBERT MOSS, 16 Beaconsfield Court, Orinda, is one of the seniors on the Dean's honor list at the University of the Pacific, Stockton. Moss had a grade point average of 3.62.

NANCY HENRY of Orinda was elected to serve two semesters as publicity chairman of the associated women students at the University of Pacific, Stockton.

MILTON WALLACE HOWE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guerrett D. Howe, 15 Glorietta Court, a junior majoring in Geology attained a 3.83 grade point average at the University of California, Santa Barbara. He was among the 216 students to attain a B plus average, or better. Milton is a junior majoring in geology.

STEPHEN LEE ABBOTT, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Abbott, 102 Sleepy Hollow Lane, also made the dean's list at U.C., Santa Barbara. Steve, a sophomore majoring in analytical biology, earned a 3.67 grade point average.

WILLIAM K. THRAILKILL, an Orinda student at the University of California, Davis, was recently awarded a varsity letter and sweater for his participation with the Cal Aggies' 1962 wrestling team.

Thraillkill completed his first year of wrestling at Davis with an undefeated Far Western Conference record and captured the 137-pound title in the FWC meet held at Davis on February 23.

Testimonial Dinner Set For Veteran Court Clerk

Richard A. Steiner, a resident of Orinda for the past 24 years, will retire as master calendar clerk of the county superior court as of June 1.

Steiner is known to nearly every attorney in the San Francisco Bay Area, according to County Clerk Walter T. Paasch, who announced Steiner's retirement recently.

A TESTIMONIAL dinner is planned for May 20 at Paul's Place, Martinez. More than 200 reservations have been made by Steiner's friends throughout this county, San Francisco and Alameda counties.

He was also clerk to Judge A. F. Bray, now a justice of the state district court of appeal. Steiner joined Paasch's office in 1944.

THE CONTRA COSTA court had been increased from three to five departments when Steiner was appointed "switchman" of court cases. There are now seven departments. And an eighth is in the process of being established.

Steiner lives at 4 Valley View Road, Orinda. He is a member of Elmhurst Lodge of Masons, Oakland and Richmond Lodge of Elks.

JAMES E. COX, Martinez attorney and past president of the Contra Costa County Bar Association, lauded Steiner for his "devoted service" which has saved "thousands of dollars to the taxpayer" by "expedition of litigation."

Cox is on the committee making arrangements for the dinner. Others serving on the committee are Mrs. Viola Harbaugh of Steiner's office, Wilfred O'Neill, assistant master calendar clerk, and George Barkley of the county administrator's office.

Herbert Trenbath wanted everyone to know about his son's arrival—so—

A Wild Father's Wild Joy

Herbert W. Trenbath Jr. has a boy, Herbert White Trenbath III. The tot's father was overwhelmed.

So overwhelmed that he rushed back to the family residence at 627 Lucas Drive, Lafayette, to do all sorts of things there.

First he hung a blue flannel flag. Then came a four by eight-foot plaster board sign.

On it he inscribed some of Herbert White Trenbath the third's dimensions—such things as he was 20½ inches high and weighed 7 pounds, 14 ounces.

NEIGHBORS smiled understandingly. Mrs. Trenbath gave birth to Motorists stopped before the house.

Schoolkids peered at the unusual announcements.

In general, all Burton Valley was in hilarious turmoil over Trenbath's antics.

MRS. TRENBATH, on her arrival home with the new bundle of joy, merely smiled at what her husband had done.

"It's a wonder he didn't put my age on that sign, too," she concluded.

Trenbath finally settled down and removed the paraphernalia.

"Next time—if there's a next time," he joshed, "I may even do this on a bigger scale."

Dr. Neufeld Sues Hospital

Dr. Jacelyn R. Neufeld, 34, Broadway Terrace, Orinda, filed suit recently for $40,000 damages against Martinez Community Hospital.

Her attorney, Russel W. Federspiel, filed the suit stating that the doctor fell while on duty because of "negligence" on the part of the hospital.

Dr. Neufeld, mother of three, is an anesthesiologist. Federspiel said the hospital "did so carelessly and negligently maintain the floor opposite the operating room as to cause it to become wet, soapy and extremely slippery, making it dangerous for a person to walk."

Karl Drexel, Diablo Valley College director, made the announcement. Hazelton was selected by the world affairs council on the basis of academic interest in the area of international relations, academic responsibility and leadership qualities.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?—If you want to get the score of the Giants' game of the day, all you have to do is drive by Orchard Nursery at Lafayette's western entrance (across from The Lafayette, the area's newest night spot.) The large orange-red scoreboard is complete with a smiling baseball (when the Giants win) and a sponsor. You can't miss the sponsor's name when you check the score. And isn't that always the case?

THE MOUNT DIABLO FIRST NATIONAL BANK, newly opened independent bank in Pleasant Hill is certainly making it easy to open a checking account.

They advertise free checking privileges, free bank by mail both ways, and then even reproduce a signature card in their newspaper ads to facilitate opening an account. This just about alleviates the need for a bank building at all!

They haven't gotten around to stocking the checking account with money, however!

CAT TALE. John Sanders, one of the last of the big ranchers and genuine cowboys left in the county, was asked to diagnose the condition of a Moraga cat. "Either she's pregnant or mentally disturbed," said the anxious owner. Sanders gave the cat a professional examination. "No life in her," he diagnosed. Next day, cat owner called The Sun to ask how much it cost for a classified ad to read "FREE KITTENS."

FAN-DANGO—The folksinging LIMELIGHTERS, who will appear May 22 at Diablo Valley College, will always remember a recent fan letter from a Danville youngster: "I think you are wonderful," it began like a fan letter should, "and I have a million questions that I would like to ask but you don't have the time to answer them all so I'll boil them down to the most important one."

"Where can I send Kingston Trio fan mail?"

CLASSIFIED? In Orinda's Pine Grove School library is a large wooden box. It has a padlock with a combination known only to the proper authorities. Newspaper biz being what it is these days—one can't be too careful with scoops. The box is labeled "school newspaper articles."

ERUDITE CUT—At the California Spring Garden Show, two Diablo Valley College students paused for a long while listening to the salesman ballyhooing an automation machine. The user would learn whilst he slept, went the sales pitch. Current study a classic which damns machines, on a dare one of the students asked the vendor: "Have you ever read Huxley's 'Brave New World'?"

DOUBLE JEOPARDY—Pleasant Hill's Jaycees brought their queen, Miss Pleasant Hill, Susan Girsch, around to meet the city's councilmen Monday night. In addition to their love of beauty, the Jaycees have another consuming interest—seat-belts. So, combining both, they offered to install seat-belts free in the mayor's car during their drive next weekend if Mayor Grote agreed to pose with Queen Susan. "Only if you install a double seat-belt," said His Honor.

TIME FOR EVERYTHING—When Frank Driscoll of Walnut Creek is not (1) introducing a foreign consul general to the Kiwanis Club, (2) serving on the Walnut Creek City Council, (3) carrying out duties as corporate officer in newly-formed Stan Hobson Rambler agency, (4) speaking on K-WUN in favor of redistricting supervisory districts, (5) playing with his eight offspring, or (6) carrying on his practice as an attorney—then and only then does he reveal yet another talent.

The magic free time came yesterday when Frank charmed the ladies as commentator for the Immaculata Guild fashion show.

REALTORS, you might skim this item... it could bring you dividends.

Danny Van Allen, a long-time bar and restaurant owner in Lafayette, is looking for a new spot for his business. The building he now occupies will at some time in the future be torn down and a service station built.

Danny's unperturbed by it all. "I haven't even heard from my landlords as to when I have to get out," he said. But, in the next breath, he adds, "I'd sure like to find a new place for my business. Got any ideas?"

Well, Realtors, there's the tip. Thank you.

Baldwin Wants Investigation Of State Dept.

As Secretary of State Dean Rusk consulted with the International Control Commission, President Kennedy sent Averell Harriman to Paris and London, and the U. S. was rumored close to military action to save communist-threatened Laos.

Congressman John F. Baldwin, this area's representative in the house, called the State Department "the weakest department in the government" and joined the clamor for a full-scale Congressional investigation.

Main target in Baldwin's announcement of support of the Roubidoux resolution to authorize the probe was Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

"THE MOST SERIOUS aspect of the matter," Baldwin said Friday, "is that there is now indication that there has been an open, blatant violation by the Communists of the so-called 'Coexistence Agreement' worked out last year."

"The architect and leading exponent of this agreement was Averill (sic) Harriman, who at that time was serving as a roving 'Ambassador-at-Large' for the United States, having been appointed to this position by President Kennedy."

Pathetic Lao attacks on the neutral nation, Baldwin indicated, illustrated the "futility of expecting the Communists to carry out agreements."

THE STATE DEPARTMENT, Baldwin said, "never seems to learn from past experience. It makes the same mistakes repeatedly."

"In fact, the authors of some of these mistaken policies have been rewarded with promotions. For example, the President recently promoted Averill Harriman, the architect of our co-existence policy in Laos, to the important No. 3 position in the State Department, as Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs."

Of Roubidoux's resolution: "It is my intention to give it my full support."

become part of the 75-mile system when experiments are concluded.

The president said that aerial lines in the system would be so designed as to "fill the mental image held by most people who are enchanted with the idea of a monorail."

He also claimed the trains would be quieter and smoother-riding than any in the world.

Falk hopes the construction of the test line can get underway by the middle of next year.

Around 40 miles will be in operation by 1967, most of the balance by 1971, according to present schedules.

Realty Sales Climb Again

Realtors and salesmen associated with the Contra Costa Board of Realtors closed 172 transactions involving $3.6 million last month, a gain of over $600,000 over March, 1962.

There were 142 sales in that month last year.

Victors, Not Victims

Acting on the slogan, "Be a Victor over Cancer, Not a Victim," Contra Costa volunteers here, as in each county community and farm area, will call on their neighbors Monday in the American Cancer Society's annual effort to raise funds and extend cancer education.

Under the leadership of County Chairman John Cooley of Walnut Creek and County Residential Chairman Mrs. J. J. van Loben Sels Jr. of Lafayette, the largest organization of cancer campaign volunteers in Contra Costa's history will visit each home leaving lifesaving cancer facts and collecting funds for further research against the nation's No. 2 killer.

"The major portion of funds collected will be used to support more than 900 research studies seeking the ultimate breakthrough to place this disease under full control," Cooley said today.

CALLING ATTENTION to the fact that Albert B. Sabin, the doctor who developed the oral polio vaccine, now has turned his sights on trying to find a control for cancer which is strongly suspected to be involved with viruses that turn normal cells into wild, cancerous ones—the county chairman pointed out that through this research we may emerge with a vaccine for cancer.

Urging all residents to support the cancer drive by hastening this exploration through contributing Monday, Cooley quoted Dr. Sabin's comment when he turned recently to this field, "We must all die of something eventually, but I would want to die quietly—let the old machine run down—not in the pain, misery and suffering that is cancer," the scientist said.

More than 2000 children die each year of leukemia, cancer of the blood forming tissues—and the Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society is helping to set the pace for a nationwide program of assistance to leukemia patients, Cooley announced as volunteers today completed their plans for a complete canvass of this area next Monday.

COOLEY SAID the American Cancer Society is the only agency with public education and service to patients' programs which operate year-round in each community in the county. He said a portion of funds collected in the cancer campaign will go to support this local service.

"The fact that one in every two cancer patients even now could be saved if all cases of cancer were detected in time, points up the lifesaving value of the American Cancer Society's year-round public education program," Cooley declared. He said one patient in every three now is being cured.

The county chairman adjured every resident to read carefully the cancer facts left with them by volunteers collecting funds.

"The life you save may be your own," he said.

Mrs. van Loben Sels said that all 8,261 volunteers in the county will have their calls completed and kits returned to their captains by Thursday.

AIRPORT HOTEL LEASE—Await a report from the county's airport committee. It's to be given in one week. James Stockman, president of Trans Western Hotels, has indicated his firm wants the lease, and will go ahead with proposed hotel's construction.

LATE SPORTS

A three-way tie for first place in Football Athletic League swimming resulted Wednesday when Las Lomas won out over Acalanes in a close meet, 53-42.

Las Lomas, Acalanes and Miramonte each ended the dual season with identical 4-1 league records.

Miramonte earned its share of first place with a 61-34 triumph over San Ramon.

Last week Miramonte handed Las Lomas its first FAL dual meet loss in six years to set up the crucial struggle between the Dons and Knights this week.

Las Lomas had won the FAL crown outright for the past five years.

In the B meet yesterday, the Knights trounced Acalanes, 60-26, to win that title. Both teams were 4-0 going into the meet.

In the remaining FAL action Wednesday, the Del Valle-Alhambra meet was postponed until this afternoon.

THE KNIGHTS and Dons were nip and tuck all the way down to the wire. Actually, the final event, the 200-yd. freestyle relay was the deciding event.

Befitting the drama of the situation, the Knight quartet of Chris Ostrom, Al Pomeroy, Rich Leach and Chris Von Tagen were forced to swim 2½ seconds faster than their previous time to top a determined Acalanes team.

The Knights posted a new meet and school record in the event of 1:35.7.

Don Smith, with victories in the 200-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke, and Bob Strand who captured the 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle, were double winners for the Knights.

TOM McPHERSON led a one-two sweep of the 100-yard breaststroke for the Dons.

Miramonte coasted to an easy win over San Ramon. The Mats swept to first place in every event on the agenda.

Bob Moore registered his best time of the year in winning the 100-yard butterfly in 1:01.6.

Bob Savage also of Miramonte set a new meet and pool record in the 200-yard individual medley.

New Permit Law For Gas Stations

Use permits will be required from now on for service stations that are to be built in neighborhood business zones, the county's board of supervisors has decreed.

The supervisors agreed with the recommendation of the county planning commission by a vote of 4 to 1, with Joe Silva, the lone dissenter.

Representatives of the Western Oil and Gas Association argued at the meeting that a decision should be withheld pending completion of a six-to-12 month-long study.

TONY DEHAESUS of the county planning staff, argued that the amendment to the ordinance would not influence the deliberations of the study committee because the use permit requirement already existed in retail business districts.

"We are not trying to hurt Western Oil and Gas," Supervisor Mel Nielsen said. "What this ordinance does is help you to control the backyard mechanics and tin-can type of architecture. We have 20-odd service stations within one mile in Lafayette."

Nielsen added that controls should be maintained of service stations so that they can be made more attractive "and people won't object to them."

Hail May! We've Had 'Nuf April

Contra Costans will not be sorry to dance around the May pole Wednesday.

It has been a wet, cold April. The rainfall, in the middle of the central county, measures 34.42 inches. Seasonal normal is 26.22 inches 'til June.

LAST WEEK-END the snow line on Mt. Diablo dropped to 1600 feet. The last storm of the April series brought rain, snow, hail, thunder and lightning.

Over 50 per cent of the month was wet. The ground was soggy. And if you don't believe it, ask Charlie Rockwell, a kindergarten in Moraga. Charlie was playing by a creek bed near his home, when he sunk waist-deep in the muck.

The Moraga Fire Department came to the rescue. Charlie's plight prompted Fire Chief Al Baits to send warning to kids not to play near muddy areas.

THE COUNTY mosquito abatement district has continued spraying pools of water throughout the winter for the first time in history.

"We believe we have held the infestation to below normal," said District Manager Ernest Campbell.

"We don't know what will happen when the weather turns hot, but we are trying to prepare for any situation."

Bank Gives Awards To 2 DVC Students

Two Diablo Valley College students were honored recently when the Bank of America held its Junior College Business Awards Dinner at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

Miss Maurine Ann Johnson of Martinez received the award in the secretarial area and Charles A. Cook, 3356 North Lucile Lane, Lafayette, received the business administration award.

2 Flee Court; 3 Jump Guard

Five young men were in deep serious trouble yesterday in Martinez.

Two of them fled a third floor jury room at the Hall of Records by climbing down bed sheets tied together.

Three others jumped a guard in their attempt to break out of Contra Costa County Jail.

THE TWO courtroom escapees were caught in the hills a mile away.

The three guard-attackers never got out of the jail house.

The prisoners recovered after they shinned down the bed-sheets from the jury room of Superior Judge Norman A. Gregg's courtroom were Robert Moore, 24, and John Batchelder, 23.

Twenty-four prisoners were in the room when the two made their abortive escape attempt.

MATRON Marie Adams came into the room seconds later, saw one sheet over the window sill, looked out and spotted the two young men running up the street.

Several Pacific Telephone workers were at work near the sidewalk. She reported later that they heard her shouts but made no attempt to halt the fleeing prisoners.

A squad of sheriff's deputies led by Walter Trawick, head of the detective division, located Moore and Batchelder a short time later, and returned them to jail.

Both men face felony escape charges.

JUDGE GREGG, in the meantime, had conducted his courtroom session, unaware that the escape try had been attempted Monday and concluded—at least temporarily.

Sunday night, Sheriff's Deputy Larry Ard, 24, was attacked by three men in the county jail. In the melee he suffered a broken nose and cut hands. The cuts were inflicted by one prisoner who had a spoon honed down to a knife's sharpness.

Three prisoners identified in the jail corridor's fracas were Robert Kitchell, 22, of Richmond; Ronald R. Dew, 22, of El Cerrito, and William Morales, 22, of Vallejo.

ALL THREE are in for armed robbery charges, including a market holdup in Lafayette and a bar stickup in Pleasant Hill.

Deputy Ard was attacked when Kitchell diverted his attention and he was grabbed by Dew. Kitchell and some other prisoners also joined in the fight.

The prisoners were unable to open the second door in the corridor. They were then blocked off by Ard, who managed to get another door shut.

All three face additional charges of attempted jail break.

We're 476,500 Strong Here, Says Nose-Count

Within two and a half years, Contra Costa County has passed the 450,000 population projected in 1959 for 1970 by the U. S. Department of Commerce, according to estimates of postal deliveries by the county's postmasters.

The 1963 population report of the Contra Costa County Development Association, compiled from figures submitted by the 31 postmasters, shows the county with a current population of 476,500.

Postmasters took the number of deliveries in their areas and multiplied them by 3.5 persons, the national average.

The 1960 census figure for Contra Costa was 309,200, but was later adjusted to 413,900.

LAST JULY the State Department of Finance fixed the county's population at 448,200 for purposes of dividing state subventions and on January 1, 1963, the California Taxpayers' Association made Contra Costa estimate of 459,000.

This is the figure the Department of Commerce projected as its estimate of the county's 1970 population, based upon past growth and future potential.

The Development Association's report gives the following figures for major postal distribution areas:

Richmond area, 92,947; Concord, 75,787; Walnut Creek, 44,076; Pittsburg area, 31,717; El Cerrito, 26,500; Martinez area, 25,750; Lafayette, 24,538; San A. Cook, 3356 North Lucile Lane, Lafayette, received the business administration award.

St. Mary's College, 1025; San Ramon, 400; Alamo, 5012; Moraga, 3300; Danville, 2698.

Smallest postal area in the county: Canyon, where it would be easier to count the 200 estimated souls than to estimate them.

Moraga Memo

It Might As Well Be Winter

By YVONNE MAUZEY
376-4083

SUNSHINE AT LAST. I was beginning to think we were going to have another flood of 40 days and 40 nights! At least there should be no water shortage for some time. For all the dams and lakes are fuller than they have been for years.

Using some of that water was Mrs. Dyer of Sanders Drive who had a tea in her home for Alex Winchester, principal of Campolindo. Winchester is attending teas throughout the area to explain to mothers of future students of Campolindo the facilities and future plans for the new high school, and to answer questions. A very informative meeting.

STORK SONG—Carol and Jack Costello are the proud parents of a baby girl born April 19th, named Jo-Ann for Carol's mother and dad. More girls: Bob and Alice Morris also new parents of a girl born April 20th at Alta Bates Hospital. Bob and Alice named the latest addition Jennifer.

FOOD ANYONE? — The Gourmet group "Cooks and Cookies" will have their spring dinner of crown leg of lamb tomorrow at the home of Shirley and Bill Thayer. Eight couples will bring additions to complement the meal.

NEWCOMERS ADD — Joan Poor announced the addition of four new members of the NewComers Club, after attending a coffee at the home of Alice Miller in their honor. The new members are E. L. and Beverly Bryant, and Frank and Jane Malinasky.

SHADES OF G. & S. — Our excellent music teacher Helen Holzinger (with a striking platinum hair-do) announces the school play, H.M.S. Pinafore by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be held May 10th at 8 p.m. at the Camplondo High School gym. The prices: adults, 35 cents; children, 25 cents. Cast in the play are fifth thru eighth graders of Camino Pablo School: Paul Averson, Daryl Sieck, David Sieck, John Werner, Bob Blackmur, Cathy Miles, Cathy Ricks, Pewee (John) Rinehart, Tom Reeder. The chorus will play the sisters, aunts and cousins. You may buy your tickets at the door or call Janis Haggerty (who has done a wonderful job as student director) at 376-4148.

A bouquet of thanks from Mrs. Holzinger and the students go to Mmes. Hermanson, Mohrmann, DeMann & Stocking for their wonderful assistance in the production of this play.

WELCOME HOME: Willie Timmins is back and will stay with us until their home is sold before returning to Southern California, where Ted has been transferred.

KEY ANYONE? — Sally Finlen on her regular day out left the home and baby in the capable hands of the baby sitter, who later decided to take baby for a stroll. Picked up the key (or what she thought was the door key) and locked the house securely. The key didn't fit! (Shirley Hovey to the rescue!) She called Sally at the beauty shop. But Sally left her key at home, too. So she called Bill who couldn't possibly leave the office to come all the way home to open a door. The key that was usually hidden outside wasn't there. (Some days it just doesn't pay to get up.) You all know how hard these houses are to open once they are locked tight. So a key smith was called, who, with one little flip of his master switch, opened the door, collected his bill and left. An expensive lesson.

GET WELL FINGERS! — Go to little Charlie Miller who smashed the two fingers on his right hand in the car door, removing finger nails and leaving a bloody pulp. The little Miles is still all smiles!

CAUGHT! — Another one to have a cut finger is Bruce Hall, only his was achieved while filching a piece of ham that mother didn't know was being taken.

HARD-WORKING Nell Prescott will be working in the Thrift Shop at 3331 Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette, at their open house May 8, 9, and 10th. Coffee will be served while you are browsing and buying. Nell belongs to the Yosemite Guild of the John Muir Hospital group, which incidentally will be laying the corner stone to the hospital in June. The women's auxiliary has worked long and hard for this event.

DINNER DANCE: — Planning tomorrow's dinner-dance given by the Orinda-Moraga Welcome Wagon Club and Mmes. Charles Kinghorn, Robert Steward and Eugene Sullivan. The affair will be held at the Alameda Air Station with a social hour starting at 7, followed with dinner and dancing at 8 o'clock. For more information call Mrs. Thomas Phillips, president, 376-5308 or Mrs. Jack Smith, publicity, 254-8795.

MAY DAY — Wednesday is the first of May. Let's hope we get some consistently good weather. We won't be sorry to see wet, windy, miserable April go 'by 'by.

Why the Fleur De-Lis

Since ancient times in Egypt, through the building of the Roman Empire, even until its entry into the Royal House of France, the fleur-de-lis (Flower of the Lily) has been a symbol of Life. It has been a symbol of kings. It is our symbol at Lafayette Federal Savings. It reminds us that we must serve with understanding, with humility and responsibility.

The next production of the Dramateurs will be Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice." This play is being presented for several reasons:

Blind Students Need Volunteer Help--Now!

By VAL VOLUNTEER
We can't see you, but we hope that you can see our need.
Blind high school students in this area need volunteer help. The most desperate need is for those who are trained in Braille, but tape recorder owners are also in demand.
The blind student program at Pleasant Hill High School will furnish tapes on to which volunteers may read text books and novels, a service vital to the students' work.
If you are not skilled at Braille, nor a tape recorder owner, but can type, you too can be of help in preparing "large type" materials for the partially blind.
"See your way now to aid those who can't see," urges the volunteer bureau at 2363 Boulevard Circle, Walnut Creek.

Scholarship Presented in Girl's Name

Rudy Diokno, a Filipino student at Diablo Valley College, was the first recipient of the $50 Nancy Ann Boyd memorial scholarship last Monday.
Mrs. M. S. Marchus, 818 Solano Drive, Lafayette, of the International Students Council of Contra Costa County, awarded the scholarship.
The Rotary Club of Martinez, represented by Carl H. Taft, 52 Oak Knoll Court, Walnut Creek, contributed $25 to the award, while the International Students Council provided the other half of the scholarship money.
THE AWARD was established in memory of Nancy Ann Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boyd of Martinez.
She was killed in a plane crash on the Philippine Island of Mindanao on March 2 while returning to her Peace Corps job as a teacher's aide in English and natural science at the elementary school in the village of Mabini, Minanao.
Nancy was a 1960 graduate of Alhambra High School, Martinez, and had completed her sophomore year at the University of California, Santa Barbara, as a history major when she was accepted in the Peace Corps.
After training at San Jose State College from June 21 to August 28, she left the United States for the Philippine Island to continue training at the Zamboanga Normal Training School. She began her teaching assignments in October.

Publisher to Head Council

Warren Brown Jr., publisher, Richmond Independent, was re-elected Contra Costa County vice president of the Bay Area Council for the coming year at the organization's annual dinner Friday in San Francisco.
Three central Contra Costa men will serve as governors of the council, whose purpose is the civic and economic development of the nine Bay Area counties.
Jack O. Fries, president, San Pablo Oil Recovery Company, Pittsburg; and Capt. Henry W. Simonsen, vice president, Diablo Seaway Terminals, Pittsburg, were re-elected to the council's governing body. H. V. Worthington, district manager, P.G.&E., Pittsburg, is a new member of the board.

Old Timers to Get Together

Representatives from every Contra Costa County community are expected at the Fourteenth Annual Pioneer Luncheon and Reception to be held at the Kiwanis Youth Center, 750 Allen Street, two blocks off Alhambra Avenue, in Martinez May 4 at 12:30 p.m.
Those pioneers who have attended previous affairs are urged to bring with them this year others from their community who qualify, namely, a person born in the county in 1888 or prior thereto or a person who came to the county at least 75 years ago.
This annual get-together of the "old timers" is sponsored by Las Juntas Parlor No. 221, Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Most Rabid Skunks In County in '62

Twenty eight cases of rabid skunks were reported in Contra Costa County last year—the state department of public health reported.
A breakdown by communities showed Orinda with seven cases, followed by Lafayette with five and four in Danville. There were three in Pleasant Hill.

Federal Transit Aid Plan Is No Handout: Engle

Urban transit systems will receive important federal assistance under the just-passed senate version of the rapid mass transit bill—but only after the locality has done everything possible to raise its own funds.
This explanation of the transit legislation comes from Senator Clair Engle, a co-sponsor of the bill.
Senator Engle, who joined with Harrison Williams in introducing the measure, said that without federal help many local agencies are unable to go ahead by themselves with development and improvement of transit systems.
"It is essential that the federal government lend a helping hand if we are to have practical, efficient and modern rapid transit systems in America," Senator Engle said.
"But the bill stipulates very clearly that the initiative must begin at the local level—where it belongs," he added.
The mass transit bill passed the senate last week by a vote of 52 to 41. Senate approval of the measure is considered an important victory for President John F. Kennedy's legislative program, Engle declared.
The House of Representatives has not yet voted on the bill.
The senator, in a television interview, emphasized that local authorities "must indicate that they are doing all within their power to raise finances on their own."
The bill calls for federal guarantees, or insurance, of up to $375 million on locally issued bonds. This does not involve federal money, Senator Engle said, "only U.S. credit."
The measure also provides a three-year $375-million program of grants. The federal government could put up two-thirds of the deficit amount needed in communities which qualify for assistance.

High School District Celebrates 23rd Year

The current 1962-63 school year marks the 23rd consecutive year of high school instruction services for the Acalanes Union High School District.
Since its first opened classrooms at the district's initial high school, Acalanes high in Lafayette in 1940, the district has grown from an initial enrollment of approximately 400 students to a current high school student body of nearly 5200.
In 1939, residents of Canyon, Moraga, Orinda, Lafayette and Walnut Creek organized the Acalanes Union High School District and spent a busy year winning community approval for the new secondary district's tax and bond levies, planning construction of the initial units at Acalanes high and the preparation of the instructional program for the opening of school September 1940.
This article, prepared in co-operation with the Acalanes Union High School District, is printed in connection with Public Schools Week, observed this week throughout the United States.
THE FIRST Acalanes district pupils attended classes at a campus which, at that time, represented an entirely new concept in functional and economical school design. The concepts inherent in the Acalanes high school plant have since been employed and improved in each of the district's subsequent high schools and copied in school systems throughout the United States and even abroad.
Today the Acalanes Union High School District operates five secondary schools: Acalanes, serving Lafayette; Campolindo, serving Canyon, Moraga, portions of Orinda and Lafayette; Del Valle, serving portions of Walnut Creek and Lafayette; Las Lomas High, serving Walnut Creek; and Miramonte High, with students from Orinda.
Certificated personnel, 274 strong, staff the education services provided by the district for 1962-63. The Acalanes District's educational program has been widely recognized.
IN DISCUSSING "quality" factors in the district's educational program, district officials point out some of the important "plus" elements: "Well-trained, competent teachers, selectively recruited, many recognized as outstanding in their special fields of interest. — A favorable low ratio of pupils to each teacher. — A diversified curriculum that offers sound preparation for college and pre-vocational learning opportunities. — Personalized counseling and guidance services for each pupil. — Standard and selected testing programs used to counsel students individually and measure the effectiveness of instruction. — Programs for students requiring special educational assistance. — Advanced programs for high ability students. — Summer school study opportunities. — Modern facilities, up-to-date instructional methods, texts, libraries, science and mathematics instruction, language laboratories, and a wide variety of audio-visual instructional aids. — Health and psychological guidance services. — Home teachers for students who are ill. — Many study grants for teachers in the district awarded by national, state and regional agencies and foundations on the basis of the instructor's recognized competence. — The biggest 'plus' factor enjoyed by the Acalanes District," superintendent Neil M. Parsons observed, "is the continued strong interest and support given local high schools by parents and the community, all of whom historically have done their best to work with the high schools to insure a continuing solid educational opportunity for the students of the Acalanes District community." Parents and the public took the opportunity to visit Acalanes District schools this week during Public Schools Week Observation.

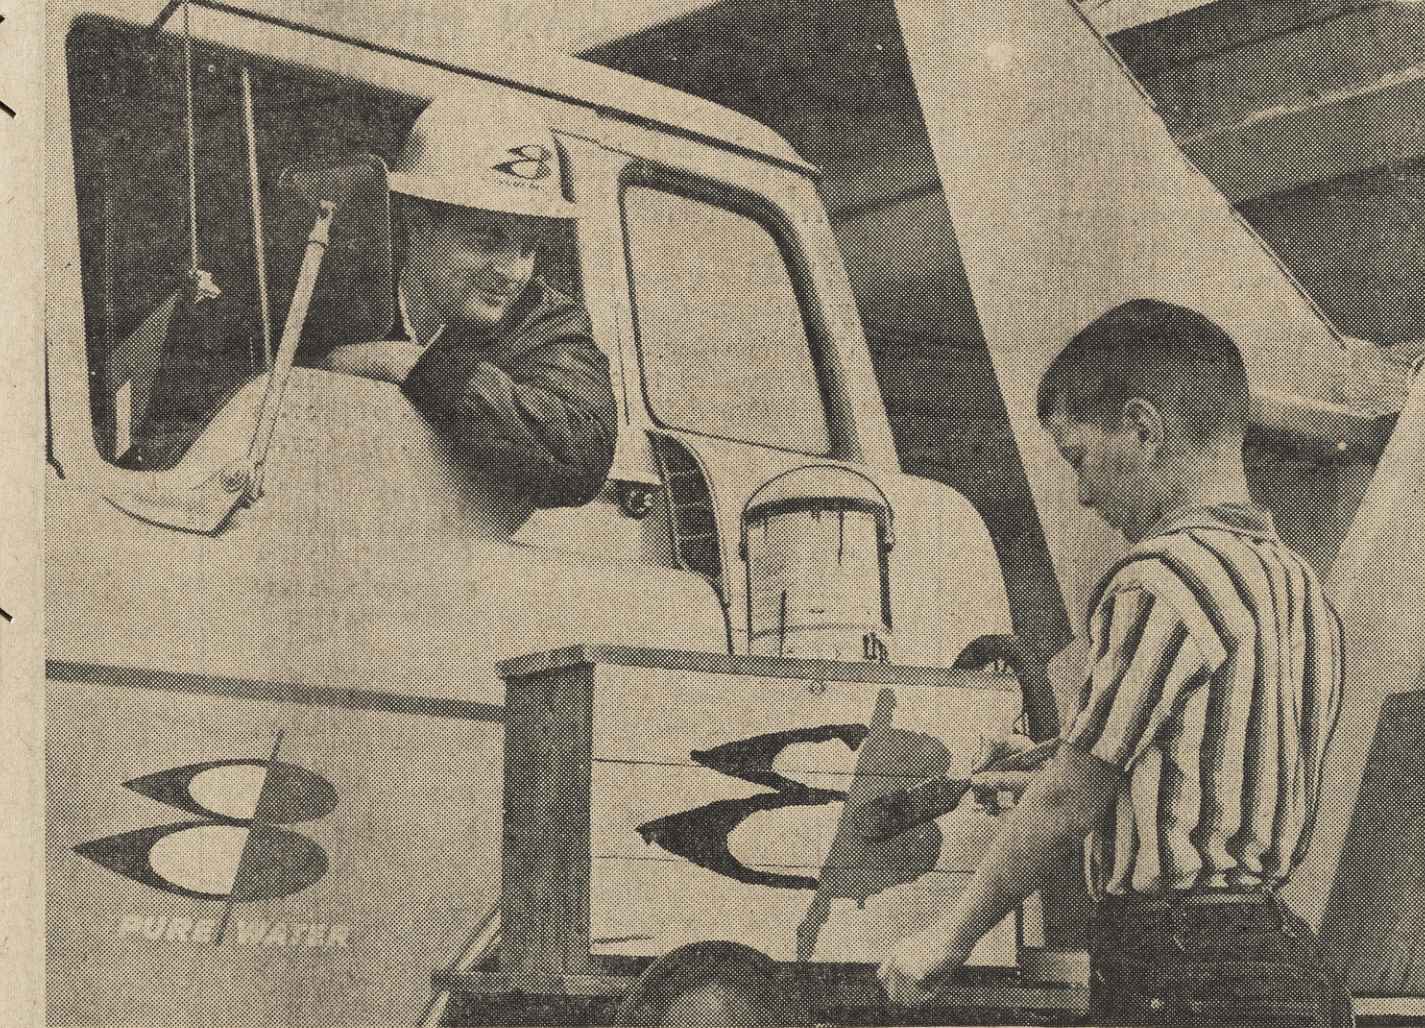

New Plan Made Effective To Guide County's Growth

A general plan that will pretty much guide the county's growth and development through the next 25 years has been adopted by the county's board of supervisors.
Purpose of the program is to insure the orderly progress of the county, the "Land Use and Circulation Plan," and to take into consideration all 12 cities as well as the entire unincorporated areas.
LAFAYETTE'S civic leaders and county county planning officials are now in the process of working up a proposed general plan for the community. Many more monthly meetings are contemplated before all aspects of the plan are completely designed.
The recently-adopted general plan for the county encompasses a growth of from 490,000 to some 1,100,000 persons by 1985. Most of the growth is anticipated in the central area.
In fact, Thomas Heaton, county planning director, told the board of supervisors that the central area should at least triple its population in the next two decades, with that along the eastern and western portions at least doubled.

Heaton further pointed out that the county's new general plan will remain flexible enough that adjustments can be made to it as times and conditions change.

That "Pure Water" insignia Eddie Alan is copying from an East Bay Water truck symbolizes our determination to make everything connected with your water system clean, modern, and efficient.
Eddie probably doesn't realize it, but this symbol will have a mighty important place in his future. It means that he, along with your children, will always have plenty of pure water at the lowest possible cost. Nice to know, isn't it?

Garden Show Beckons

By MARIE MONAHAN

IF A SINGLE hyacinth can feed thy soul, think what the big blooming show in Oakland is doing.

It's pretty heady stuff, this year's California Spring Garden Show.

As always, the native redwoods are used. As in this year's "Valley of the Giants" the fresh fragrance of the forest primeval lands an added opiate to the annual spectacular.

Many trekked through the tunnel in the rain to Friday's invitational preview.

A tall twosome (easy to spot) was Irene and Frank Malley of Happy Valley who arrived from the Oakland Museum Association's dinner between raindrops. This gala pre-preview affair attracted over 350 guests.

HEADS UP in the crowd: The Bill Fissets strolling down the ramp and suddenly circled by friends . . . Marian's slim coat-dress elegantly collared and cuffed with white fox. . . . Setting the show to music was Orinda's music man Del Courtney whose orchestra played the entire preview evening.

Sally (Mrs. George) Peterson of Walnut Creek sporting her trademark—a black velvet bow perched on her blonde 'postiche' hairdo. . . . Black silver and gold brocade for Dee Seifert viewing the exhibit booths with husband Bill.

Bert Hotchkiss of Orinda intrigued with the Norwegian Rosettes booth. He "blew" Shirley to a set of the Scandinavian cooky-iron tools.

HEADS DOWN in the throng . . . Ann and Dick Ward of Lafayette admiring the bouffant blooms of hydrangeas, a low carpet of lavender-mauve . . . The James Felchlin of Orinda stopping to inspect the mammoth outdoor chess game with board and "men" fashioned of redwood.

Providence Guild member Virginia (Mrs. Carlton D.) Block of Orinda doing hostess duties in the champagne bar. Libations dispensed here benefit both Providence Hospital and Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL STARS—Six former Contra Costa prep stars form nucleus of University of California Freshman baseball team. Kneeling, left

Local Talent Pays Dividends

There's a rumor that has been circulating to the effect that the Foothill Athletic League specifically, and Contra Costa generally, has become a farm club for the University of California.

And if you check the Cal frosh baseball team roster, it would appear there was some substance to the charge.

Checking the line-up of a Bear Cub nine that has rolled up a 18-1 season record to this point, discloses that there are no less than five graduates of the Foothill Athletic League. Added to this total is one DVAL-CCD product, bringing the total of Contra Costa transplants to six.

RICH NYE, late of Las Lomas, presently leads the Cub mound staff.

Brian Allen, last year's leading Acalanes hurler, is also a regular on the Cubs staff.

Bob Gillham, another Don's product is sometimes known as Mr. Shortstop on the yearling squad.

Alhambra makes a noteworthy contribution to the Blue and Gold, with former all-FAL catcher, Tom Quontamato.

SCRAPPY GREG Bertagnoli, Las Lomas infielder of last year, is in contention for the second base job.

Clayton Valley is well represented by Buddy Beemer in the outfield.

While this group, individually and collectively, fared better than well in their high school careers, there have been a couple of pleasant surprises.

Richie Nye is a good case in point.

THE STYLISH port-sider had been counted on for considerable work last year by the Knights, but a broken leg sustained in basketball took him out of the picture completely.

He may have missed last season, but he's made up for that and then some.

He has compiled a win-loss record thus far of 5-1 and has two no-hitters, one a perfect seven inning game to his credit.

Against South San Francisco High School, Nye turned back 21 consecutive batters without letting anyone reach first base.

PRIOR to that effort, he had struck out 17, and been touched for only two safeties, only to be undone by unearned runs in the frosh's only loss of the season to Bellarmine High.

His ERA of less than a run hasn't gone unnoticed by pro scouts.

Bob Gillham is another Cub horseholder that has the play for pay lads droling.

Gillham has always been a flashy glove man, but so far this year his hitting has left little or nothing to be desired.

He leads the club in RBI's and his batting average is currently .435.

MOVED INTO the clean-up spot against the USF frosh, Gillham delivered with two torrid triples. Since that time Gillham has collected three round trip-pers.

Alhambra's favored son, Tom

Quontamato, is hitting the ball like it might go out of fashion. In addition to banging the long ball, Quontamato is batting a healthy .345.

His performances behind the plate have been great.

Another Acalanes contribution to the Bear cause is Brian Allen.

HAVING LED the FAL last year with a 6-1 record, Allen has toiled effectively for his new teammates. At present he's 4-0.

His finest creation was a one hitter last week against El Camino High School. Allen has won his last two starts, and has a ERA of 3.20.

Greg Bertagnoli rounds out the FAL contingent. Bertagnoli is in the midst of a ding doing fight for a starting berth.

A second baseman by trade, Bertagnoli was one of 22 aspirants for that position. He has made fine progress with his defensive play around the keystone spot, and needs only to find his batting eye to make his bid a very attractive one.

HOLDING down a job in centerfield is Buddy Beemer, an outfielder for Clayton Valley last year.

Beemer has raised a number of eyebrows with the power shots he's unlimbered in the early season going.

He hasn't hit for the average, but his extra base output has been prolific.

His lethal smashes are a thing of sheer beauty.

The localites held a homecoming of sorts Monday as they were instrumental in the Cubs 8-6 triumph over Acalanes at Lafayette in a make-up of a rained-out contest.

As an idea of their value to the frosh cause, six of the eight Cal runs were batted in by Gillham, Beemer and Quontamato.

Featured in this offensive output were two-run homers by both Gillham and Quontamato. Maybe we should just re-name the club University of Contra Costa freshmen.

The Ski Line . . .

Plenty of Snow, But No Skiers as Season Ends

By HEC HANCOCK

So now the time has come to ring the curtain down on this, the most frustrating of ski seasons.

It wasn't that the skiing wasn't good, things just didn't get off the ground until it was too late.

So we bring this paradoxical season to an end. Earlier we had throngs of skiers and no snow. Now we have ample snow, and no skiers.

HEAVENLY VALLEY, Alpine Meadows and Squaw Valley have indicated they will continue to operate, at least on week-ends, as long as there are skiers.

That old jazz about hope springs eternal couldn't apply more. Even as skis are being blocked, boots put in boot trees and stretchies sent to the cleaners in anticipation of the summer inactivity, plans are already being made for next year.

Without allowing the dying season a graceful mourning period, ski shop and lodge operators will convene shortly in San Francisco to attend the Winter Sports Show.

Here, they will order an estimated 75 per cent of next year's winter sports merchandise.

THEY WILL ALSO get a preview peek of whatever the new look in skiing will be.

To better guide those interested in trying to guess right on how and what to buy, the Wintersports Trade Magazine has made a survey of ski shops throughout the country.

AS MIGHT be expected, there are several very interesting findings.

For instance, did you realize that there are just as many metal skis sold now as wood skis? Wood skis account for 49.5 per cent, metal skis 49 per cent and plastic comprise the balance.

Oh come on now, you didn't either.

Here's another little gem passed on for your edification. The average man's ski outfit totaled $266. The average woman skier spent $263.25, and $87.80 was ponied up for the average child's outfit.

I WONDER where the poor people have gone?

One thing I found puzzling is the fact that both men and women spent the same amount on ski pants. If this is so, how come the gals look so much better in their stretchies? How come, huh?

The prediction for next year is for a slimmer look. Parkas will be less bulky.

SKI PANTS will be slimmer from the ankle to the knee. (Boy, that's the only place mine could be trimmed!)

Metal skis will increase in popularity, but in shorter lengths. The trend will continue to lighter ski poles. Boots will not have the extremely high cut of a few years back.

Next year is an Olympic year, and the women will drop the man-tailored appearance for the more classic, soft and ladylike look. Men will be more masculine than ever. Somehow, that seems logical.

See you in the Ski Line next fall!

It Was a Wet Weekend; Ham-Bacon Shoot Is Set

By GEORGE R. WHITE

The wind blew and blew and the rains came, so this made it hard on those that wanted to get into the ocean or on the bay. The few that did get out got some stripers, and got a good sousing too. The kokanee fishing up at Pardee is hot—if you can take the rain and wind, otherwise stay home. The black bass at Pardee are on the light side, that is 1-3 lbs., what I saw. Yes I was there, but that's another story.

The Concord Sportsmen had to cancel their Ham and Bacon Shoot that was scheduled for last Sunday, but don't fret, it's rescheduled for Sunday. Shooting to start at 9 a.m. sharp. There will be big-bore shooting, pistol, skeet, trap and running deer targets and whatnot to shoot for ham and bacon prizes. Of course these won't be all that you can shoot for, other prizes are on the list.

So get yourself out to the United Sportsmen's range this coming Sunday early and see what kind of a shot you are.

The range is located on Arnold Indus. Hwy. How to get out there is easy. Just get on Willow Pass Rd. and take it to Arnold Indus. Hwy. then turn left, go a short ways, and on your right is the range. Have a good time.

Took a trip last week-end with some scouts up to Pardee. But the trip was jinxed before we got away from the house.

Unbeknownce to me I pulled away leaving the steaks, bacon and butter in the refer at home. Got out as far as Tracy, and the generator warning light went on, result was a new generator, that almost cleaned out my First National. So with about $15 left in the bank, we

I see in that Weekly sports paper "Pacific-Out-Of-Doors" that a gent by the name of Gilber Colomy over in Danville got a 20 lb. striper as part of his limit last week. He got them out by buoy 19 fishing out of Edd-o's Harbor, Sherman Is.

Word has come to me that the Berkeley Rod and Gun Club is again putting on their Annual Kid's fishing derby.

This derby is an annual affair that the club puts on for the benefit of children only. The date is May 4 on the Berkeley pier.

President Don Scott and the entire club members will be on hand to assist all young fishermen.

Many prizes in the form of fishing tackle can be won by just catching the largest fish. Time the derby starts is 9 a.m. May 4. No charge is made at all, everything free, including bait.

Mat Golfers Down SR to Move into Tie for First

Miramonte golfers got back in the running with a win over previously unbeaten San Ramon, 5½-3½, this week.

Also on Monday, still winless Del Valle travels to Las Lomas, 2-3 for the season.

Miramonte suffered its first loss in the first match of the season to Las Lomas but Monday, the Mats avenged the loss by shutting out the Knights, 9-0 in Orinda.

Acalanes defeated Del Valle's golfers at Round Hill Country Club, 6½-2½, in another league match.

LYA to Present Expanded Rec Program This Summer

The Lafayette Youth Association has announced an expanded recreation program to be conducted this summer at Acalanes High School for the boys and girls of the community.

In addition to the baseball, tennis and swimming programs presented in the past, instructed activities will be available in track and field, tumbling, physical fitness, and wrestling.

The enlarged recreation program also calls for the inclusion of open recreational activities, and a teen dance program.

GEORGE COCKERTON, LYA supervisor, reported that the two sessions will be conducted daily.

Morning activities are scheduled from 9 a. m. until noon, and will feature instructional sports for the younger children.

During the evening, running from 6:30 until 9 p.m., open type recreation will be available to teen-agers and adults.

In the track and field program, instruction and workouts in all basic track events will be provided for boys and girls in all age groups.

Tentative plans call for all corner meets to be held throughout the summer.

TUMBLING and body balance will be held for boys and girls in range of three to seven years. Boys interested in wrestling will be able to obtain basic instruction. Individual matches will be conducted following the instruction.

Those interested in just getting some exercise will be able to participate in such activities as volleyball, basketball, ping pong, touch football, and softball.

Plans call for the formation of a teen club, who in turn will conduct Friday night teen dances.

INFORMATION regarding registration for the LYA Rec program will be distributed to all students, elementary through high school, in the Acalanes School District. Pre-registration is slated for the latter part of May.

A nominal registration fee will be charged participants to defray expenses.

The program will be under the supervision of Bob Hagler, basketball coach at Amador High School, and George Cockerton, football coach at Acalanes.

Staley Sets New Shot Put Mark; Relays Tomorrow

Bill Staley will be pointing for the Martinez relays tomorrow after registering twin wins in the weight events, including a new school record in the shot, in a triangular meet against Mt. Diablo and Ygnacio Valley on April 18.

Because of the Martinez Relays, dual meets scheduled for this afternoon were conducted yesterday, and the results weren't known at press time.

THE TWICE rained out San Ramon Relays have been set for May 4.

Las Lomas amassed 79 points to overwhelm Ygnacio Valley 36½, and Mt. Diablo 24½.

Staley's booming effort of 57-8 in the shot was the highlight of the meet. The mark surpassed his previous school record of 56-10½.

Staley sailed the discus out 159-4 for one of the leading performances in this event in the Bay Area thus far this year.

Times were on the slow side due to the muddy condition of the track.

LL Mermen Beat By Mats in Upset

Miramonte, off to a fast start with victories in the two opening events, gathered momentum, and handed Las Lomas, defending Foothill League champions, its first dual FAL loss in six seasons.

In dominating the meet, Miramonte captured seven first places.

The Las Lomas loss left Acalanes the only undefeated swim team.

An Acalanes loss to the Knights this week would result in a three-way tie for first place.

Previously, Acalanes had downed Miramonte, 51-44.

This week's meets close out the dual meet season.

The preliminary FAL meet is slated for Wednesday, with the finals coming up next Friday.

The meet will be conducted at Miramonte.

The University of California

frish ran their season record to 18 victories in 19 outings last Monday as they overcame a two run deficit, to down a stubborn Acalanes club, 8-6.

Ironically, the winning runs for the Bear yearlings came in the sixth frame, when Acalanes grad, Bob Gillham, connected with a two-run homer.

The Bear freshmen jumped into a 3-1 lead at the end of three innings. Buddy Beemer, the former Clayton Valley outfielder, had doubled in the second to drive in a run. In the top half of the third, Tom Quonamatto delivered a two-run circuit smash.

THE DONS GOT a run back in their half of the third, when Pete Schneider singled home Rick Underwood who had tripped.

The Dons tied the contest up in the fourth, when errant Cal pitching loaded the bases, and a hit batter and walk forced in two tallies.

Rick Underwood gave the Dons a two-run bulge when he hammered his second triple of the afternoon, this time with bases loaded.

Little League to Hold Tryouts

Try-outs for the Major League teams of the Lafayette Little League, rained out last weekend, will be conducted this Saturday at Acalanes High School at 1 p.m.

Bruce Wood of the Lafayette Little League stated that in addition to this try-out, an additional session would be scheduled for May 2 at the same site.

Try-outs this Saturday are for the major leagues, which cover an age group of 11-14 only.

Boys are requested to wear tennis shoes, and to bring their gloves and registration cards.

Concord Links Opening Climaxes Long Struggle

By HEC HANCOCK

The threatening grey skies, as if in acknowledgement of the moment, held off last Friday, as the city of Concord held opening ceremonies for its new nine hole municipal golf course.

Start of play on the handsome 3,150 yard layout climaxed five years of hard work, planning, and scheming on the part of the Concord city fathers. Insurmountable problems had been solved, yards of red tape were cut through, and the result is a fine, and badly needed new course, only the second municipal in Contra Costa county.

Home pro, Gordon Farris, handled the m. c. chores, and Mayor George Krueger got things rolling when drove a gold golf ball off the first tee.

Play then got under way, with amateurs being paired with the many many visiting pros.

Al Jones, pro at Mare Island, and Francisco Lopes of Buchanan Field fired 36's to share the $100 pot.

STEVE STIMAC, the Concord pill roller, led the way of the amateurs with a 37.

It was my pleasure to be included in a foursome that contained Bill Rasset of Buchanan Field, Stimac, and our esteemed editor, George Colburn.

AFTER SURVIVING the traumatic experience of teeing off in such fast company, I found the round a very enjoyable affair.

The greens were in good shape, and when they lose the volunteer fairway grass, should be great.

DESPITE THE flatness, I found the course a good challenge, but then with my game I find any course a challenge.

However, a par five and two long par fours play right into the face of a prevailing wind.

As a consequence, when the breeze is stirring, the average player will need a seige gun to get to the green in regular figures.

It is planned that the second nine will be completed and ready for play by September.

Oh yes, as to my round. Obviously, I didn't press Stimac, former Oakland City champ and many time quarter finalist in the State Amateur.

However, since we were in the first official foursome to ever tour the course, for a few minutes at least, I could claim the third best round that had ever been shot on the course.

Dons-Knights Battle for FAL Lead

Big Moment for Dons

HUFFING, PUFFING Tom Quonamatto, Cal frosh catcher from Alhambra High, isn't fast enough to beat throw on his infield grounder. Sun photo

DONS TAKE LEAD—Bob Strain, Acalanes pitcher (top photo), crosses the plate with tying run against Cal Frosh as result of Rick Underwood's bases-loaded triple. In lower photo, the Dons take lead, 5-4, as Bob Siefker, second baseman, is the second man to score on Underwood's three-run blast. When next man came across, the Dons had a 6-4 edge. They lost it quickly, however.

Del Valle and Miramonte In Clash for Third Spot

Now that the reign of rain is apparently over, the Foothill Athletic League baseball chase has resumed, and appears to have for the moment developed into a two-team race between Acalanes and Las Lomas. Both teams boasted 4-0 records going into their first head-on clash of the year yesterday.

Next week the Knights will host the Del Valle Trojans, while Acalanes will journey through the tunnel to engage the hapless Piedmont Highlanders. These chores out of the way, the two arch rivals will again meet to settle their diamond differences at Lafayette on Thursday.

Miramonte, having reached the .500 plateau, will entertain the Alhambra Bulldogs on Tuesday, and then move over to Del Valle on Thursday.

San Ramon draws a bye Tuesday, and will then seek their initial league win when they go against Alhambra on Thursday.

Acalanes shut out Del Valle last week 6-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Jeff Hearn. Rick Underwood was the Dons' stand-out at the plate, as he drove in three of Acalanes' runs.

Las Lomas used the pitching combination of Rich Bovo and Bob Krieder to pick up a pair of wins.

The Knights registered a 5-0, rain-shortened victory over San Ramon last week.

On Tuesday, Las Lomas had an uphill fight all the way to subdue the tough Alhambra Bulldogs.

Trailing 3-1 going into the seventh, Gary Ford doubled to bring Rich Bovo and Gene Razzano home with the necessary runs to force the game into extra innings.

In the ninth, Krieder homered with Bovo aboard to provide the margin of victory.

Krieder was credited with the win after spelling starter Bovo midway through the encounter.

Greg Miller of Alhambra was charged with the loss.

Del Valle swept into third place, by virtue of an 8-2 triumph over Piedmont.

Ray Cox went the distance for the Trojans, scattering four hits. The Trojans put the game away for all intents and purposes with a big seven-run second inning. Bill O'Toole highlighted the frame when he came to bat twice, driving in two RBI's and scoring a run himself.

Tom Sutcliffe of Piedmont reaped the defeat.

Miramonte and San Ramon were battling in a tight ball game when the Mats got an unexpected life and went on to break up the contest and win by a 13-4 score.

In the fifth inning, the Mats were leading 5-4, with two on and two out. Steve Thamen struck out, but made it safely to first base when the San Ramon catcher dropped the ball.

The Mats then chalked up four runs after what had been the third out.

Steve Thamen started on the mound for Miramonte and was relieved in the fourth by Harold Bond. Bond was the winning pitcher.

Bob Williams, Miramonte third baseman, paced the Mat attack with four RBI's. Williams came to bat twice with the bags loaded, and each time delivered a single.

"Although the drop out rate of pupils in the Acalanes district is far below the national average, the high schools of this area are working hard to get it even lower," Acalanes District Superintendent Neil M. Parsons reported to the school board recently.

Drop outs refers to students who leave high school before graduating.

PARSONS STATED that the national drop out are averages between 25 and 33 per cent.

A projection of this year's and last year's drop outs over four years would give the Acalanes district a rate range of three to six per cent. The superintendent explained that an accurate statistical study of the district's drop-out rate requires several years of accumulated evidence.

The drop out rate for the first semester of the present 1962-63 school year was four-tenths of one per cent.

REASONS FOR drop out in the Acalanes district for that period included leaving school to work, marriage, a dislike for school, joining the armed forces, academic failures, lack of interest in education, and other reasons.

During the first semester this year six students left to work, two to marry, four because they disliked school, six to enter the armed forces, two for academic failures and three for miscellaneous causes.

PARSONS CITED these reasons for enrollment stability in the Acalanes district:

1. The nature of the community and its socio-economic background and stress on the value of an education.

2. A comprehensive school curriculum that meets the individual needs of almost all students.

3. Effective, competent instructors.

4. A strong counseling and guidance program that works with each student individually on his school program and offers services in depth for students with special problems.

PARSONS FURTHER explained that among the relatively low numbers of drop outs in the Acalanes district, several students eventually return to complete high school graduate requirements in the district's adult education continuing program. Those who enter the armed forces are encouraged to finish their high school education through a service training program.

Students who are forced to drop out for illness are provided a home teaching service.

THE HIGH NATIONAL 25 to 33 per cent drop-out average for high schools across the country has caused both national and state concern.

A state bill to establish special programs to help drop outs, primarily among "culturally deprived" children is receiving favorable legislator support.

A federal program to alleviate the drop out factor nationally and moves to improve the school's holding power through professional educator action led by the National Education Association are also being formulated.

Included among California State proposals is legislation to establish technical, agricultural and forestry schools.

As a part of the national program, Congress is considering President Kennedy's recommendation for a Youth Conservation Corps as a first step in gainfully employment.

Another Park Bond Election

A few weeks ago, Contra Costa supervisors decided not to take official action on an eight-cent tax increase to spark a proposed "pay-as-you-go" county park plan.

Supervisor Tom Coll commented, "Let's wait and see at budget time exactly how much money we have available and whether or not we should increase the tax for more parks."

Coll also said that it is "our responsibility to move ahead on this program."

The need for more parks in our county is well known. It is hoped the board proceeds with plans to acquire park and recreation sites as suggested by the county park and recreation commission—and adopted "in principle" by the supervisors.

IT WAS WISE, however, for the supervisors to delay action on specific commitments until budget time—despite the obvious desirability of the park plan.

Although The Sun believes the annual acquisition program of the county should be expanded we feel a tax increase at this time is not a good idea.

We feel that another bond election in 1964 would be a better way to finance a county park plan.

A bond issue for parks failed at the polls in 1962, despite a 56.6 vote for the bond. A two-third vote is needed.

It is felt a bond election for parks and recreation would have a good chance to pass in 1964.

Financing by the bond issue which spreads the cost of future users of the park system as well as permitting a saving by buying some land now at a lower price, would be in the best interests of the residents of Contra Costa County.

The Few Again Win at Polls

The results are in and it again shows that Americans aren't really too interested in their right to vote.

Last week's election proves that most of us don't really care who runs our schools.

All the controversy and all the concern over the education of our children proves to be all talk at election time.

WE'RE JUST not interested in education, it would appear.

The proof: Orinda School District: The best showing locally was here where 3550 voters turned out—about 25 per cent of the registered voters.

Walnut Creek School District: There were 1823 persons who bothered to vote—about 15 per cent.

Mt. Diablo Unified School District: Out of approximately 42,000 registered voters, 5604 voted—about 13 per cent.

THE ACALANES Union High School District: There are almost 30,000 registered voters—6928 voted.

In Lafayette and Moraga no one even bothered to run against the incumbents.

Are you too busy to worry about your child's education?

It's too bad if you are.

Mt. Diablo Plan

The governor wants to spend $1.3 million to expand Mt. Diablo State Park by 3700 acres, and we can't think of many expenditures which would be wiser.

Coupled with successful outcome of negotiations now under way with the federal government, the proposal would create a park of over 6600 acres—more than triple its present size.

Acquisition of the land will accomplish two things: It will bring the park to its ultimate planned size, filling out mountain boundaries and guaranteeing needed water rights.

AND, BY PLACING additional acreage in public hands, it will help to answer a need for recreational room which many local agencies have left crying.

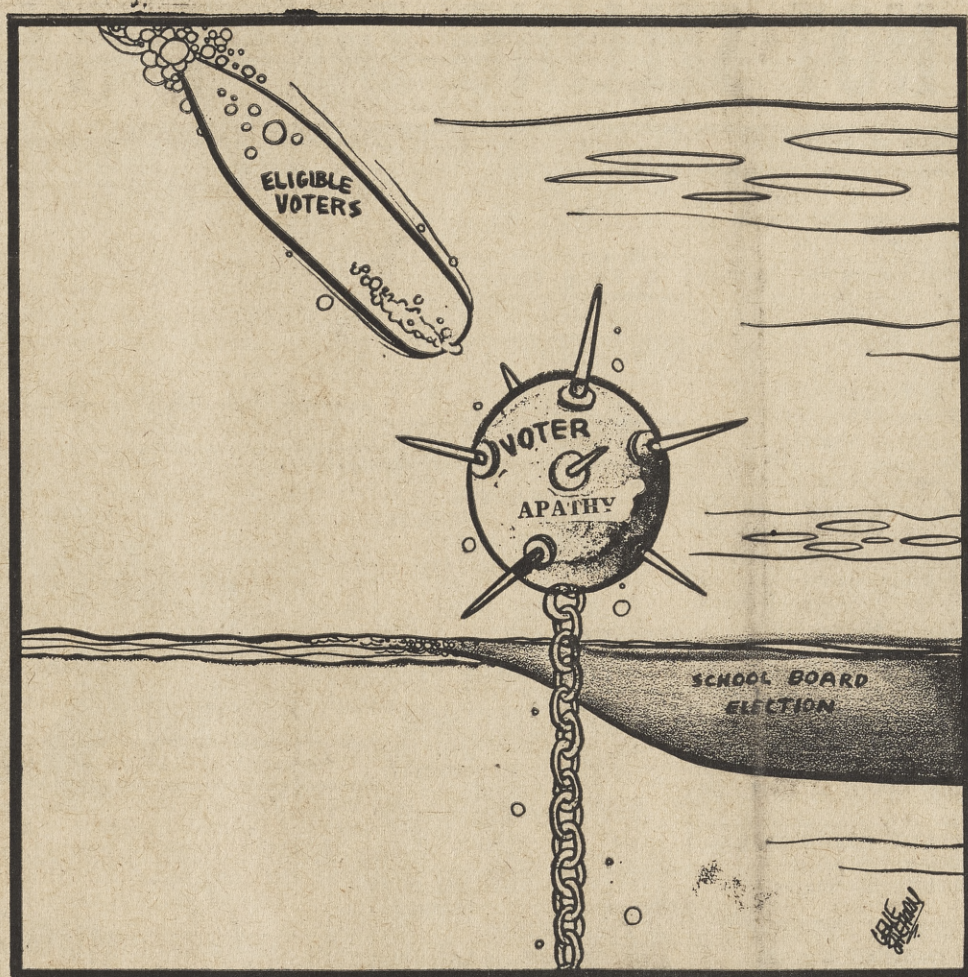

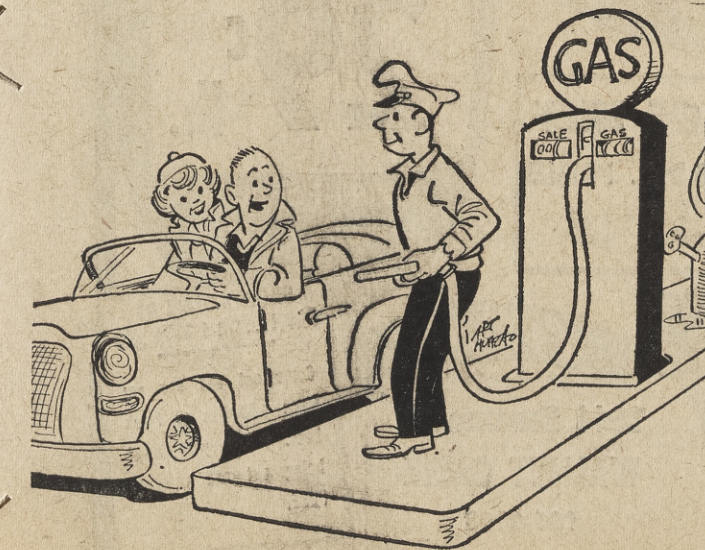

Living here in one of the nation's fastest growing areas, Contra Costans cannot help but notice the land rush which massive immigrations from the East and South have created.

Those who complain now about the lack of parks in our mushrooming county know that not only our own needs, but the needs of millions more as well, must be met by intelligent planning and action now.

The day may come when Mt. Diablo is as crowded a haven as Tahoe or Yosemite are today.

Taxpayers will be glad then that they bought a little more "living room" in 1963.

NEGROES HATED?

After reading your article on the Contra Costa County Board of Realtors' "Property Owners' Bill of Rights," I feel that the board has failed to take account of a basic aspect of present day race relations. They ignore the fact that many whites, hold Negroes in contempt, consider Negroes sub-human and furnish an environment of hate and frustration for Negro citizens.

What an awful inhumanity of man to man! That the government should offer legal recourse to such a group seems only fair. And yet the president of the Contra Costa Board of Realtors not only fails to recognize this situation, he makes the oppressed into the oppressors when he says, "equal rights have almost become special privileges."

Not only does the board ignore the basic human questions that inspire most fair housing sentiments, but it also displays an extremely narrow concept of the law. It seems to me that an important function of the law is to define and promote a fair, decent and good society.

In establishing this end, the law defines certain rights. However, we all know that these rights are not absolute and that they are all qualified so that they conform to our notion of a good society. For instance, the right to free speech does not extend to mouthing obscenities on street corners. As the old saying goes, the right to swing one's arms at some one else's nose.

The board's uncompromising defense of the rights of property owners takes no cognizance of the great harm that has been done Negro citizens. Rather than loudly proclaiming rights, we might better direct our attention to more basic aspects of the question. What is our concept of a good society? In particular, what should be the relations between the races in a good society?

JEROME A. ROSENTHAL

Ed Note: In the April 11 Oakland Tribune, a column written by Bill Fiset, an Orinda resident, mentioned the Sunday School class at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Orinda. The item: "Little Gordy Massie got home from Sunday School at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Orinda and told his father, Stan, that the class had been asked to identify a picture of the 'Last Supper.' None of the kids knew the answer, said Gordy, but one little guy gave it some thought and hazarded a guess. It's called 'The Drinks Are on the House.'"

Mrs. Donald C. Harms, of 600 Bancroft Road, Walnut Creek, has children attending St. Stephen's. She told The Sun a reply was needed to the column item and sent The Sun a copy of a letter mailed to Fiset. A part of the letter is reprinted here.

Your anecdote concerning the Orinda youngster's title for the painting "The Last Supper" leaves much to be desired in the area of discretion.

Of a more serious and damaging nature is the impression it gives of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, the Sunday School, the youngsters attending the Sunday School and the home environment of those youngsters.

That St. Stephen's takes seriously the religious education of its children is evidenced in its teacher training program and the many classes

We Like It Here... A May Basket Brings A Wave of Nostalgia

By MARIE MONAHAN

HEY, NONNY NONNY! The merrie month of May comes Wednesday with the traditional May Day basket delivered to our door.

It is nice to know that in this Instant-Everything World, a certain little girl in our neighborhood continues to keep the beloved custom of May Baskets.

Like clothespin dolls, paper lace valentines, homemade bread and handmade doll clothes, May Day baskets are a rare treat to come by these days.

It is good to know that one little girl can still find time to paste painstakingly together a little construction paper container in which to arrange her handful of handpicked posies.

Every year on May the First, she flies down our stepping stones as quietly as a bird. She ties the colored paper basket to the doorknob with a piece of ribbon. Then only the jiggling of the old doorknob gives her visit away.

It is a delightful surprise to find the gay flowers decorating the dutch door.

AS we experience the pleasure of discovery, we recall doing the same traditional thing in our own childhood. As well as with our own children when they were younger.

Taking the basket from the doorknob, we catch a glimpse of this fairy-like and fleet-footed creature disappearing down the road to make more of her floral deliveries.

WE TAKE the tiny blue forget-me-nots and daisies and pink rosebuds from the basket. We find a small vase of water to give the little nosegay a reviving drink. Then we put it back into the paper basket which we carry by its little handle to a prominent resting place in the house.

THE MAY BASKET brings back a flow of Nostalgia. Long after the flowers are faded and brown. More than the delightful tradition kept by our young neighbor, the May Basket has served to revive special fond memories.

HER MAY BASKET is proof that in this world where so many of us expect everything to come pre-packaged in plastic bags, there are still those sentimental enough who know that love and traditions can never come in ready-mix form.

I hope our little girl hasn't grown Too Big for her traditional visit this year.

Maybe we'll hang one on HER door this time... ANYONE for a May pole dance?

and activities available to them.

That St. Stephen's is less effective in ameliorating home environment is obvious as must be the fact that this or any church has access to many homes only through the children. An hour to an hour-and-a-half each week in Sunday School certainly can't provide more than the basic materials of a religious education. Every effort is made to relate these basic concepts to the manners and morals of everyday life but at best it is not an easy job.

It is indeed unfortunate that the public is left with the impression that St. Stephen's Sunday School is full of wise-acre youngsters whose irrelevant comments go unchallenged and unchanged.

It is unfortunate, too, that the public is not made aware at the same time of the positive efforts of the church to provide even more meaningful education and training for the children.

Last September St. Stephen's opened a Day School which has kindergarten, first and second grades. Those of us who have youngsters enrolled there feel that the atmosphere provided by the association with the church encourages the teaching of religious precepts, which by law cannot be taught, as such, in the public schools. Nor can they be adequately stressed, discussed and dissected in the brief Sunday School classes. Too often they are ignored in the home.

As a parent, may I extend a personal invitation to visit the chapel services at St. Stephen's Day School any morning at 9. On April 23 and 24 the regular classroom sessions will be open to the public from 9 a.m. until noon. Drop in if you can.

On April 29, 8 p.m. there will be a regular Open House. On display in the classrooms will be special projects of the students as well as illustrative material of the year's curricular activities.

The clergy, principal and faculty will be on hand to discuss the philosophy and aims of the school.

I hope we will see you there.

DISSENTING READER

Editor: I am renewing my subscription after debate and with little enthusiasm.

Any publication which will refuse to print simple, informative articles because they disagree with the writer on other matters stands pretty low in my estimation.

Don't you read "Letters to the Editor" section of Time?!!

If you feel you don't wish to associate with a dissenting subscriber feel free to cancel!

Staff Corner The Brave Men of the Ramp Age!

By WALT WRIGHT

A driver in Paris, I've heard, won't put up with any nonsense from an arbitrary traffic device.

A red light may stop him a quiet intersection, but if no traffic appears . . . zoom!—his elan carries him through.

You too Well, whether you'll admit it or not, I confess to the crime on one occasion at a three-way intersection.

But I zipped across with Parisian flair only after rolling back and forth over the traffic-control treadle five times to no avail.

BY THAT TIME the machine knew what I was trying to do and was fighting me.

I even admit that on one rollicking New Year's Eve in my youth last year I managed to get halfway involved with a left-turn traffic divider and ended up stranded in a sea of those diagonal cement bars.

I was rescued by a cordial Highway Patrolman who invited me to a post-New Year's Eve party in a San Rafael courthouse.

Yes, there have been days of both inadvertent and wilful waywardness in my vehicular career.

BUT NEVER, patient reader, have I had the terrible nerve required to go roaring onto a freeway via the off-ramp.

There are many, who have, however, and their gusto puts the Parisian to shame.

Can you imagine it?

Seventy miles an hour straight into a pack of hungry commuters.

A study of wrong-headed drivers conducted recently by the California Highway Patrol revealed that 60 per cent of the wrong-way driving incidents on freeways and expressways resulted from entering the freeway via the off-ramp.

TO KEEP IT local, remember that something like this happened not to long ago on the Orinda off-ramp from Highway 24.

Almost a straight shot from Mike Lynn's to some pretty cluttered pavement.

Or maybe two or three straight shots.

About one-third of these "defiant ones," says the patrol, weren't necessarily feisty by nature; they'd been drinking.

An equal number plead "honest confusion"—and I'll buy that.

And I'm encouraged to hear that only two out of every hundred were broken-field running down the macadam because "Do Not Enter," "One Way" and "No U Turn" were words they had not yet mastered.

BUT I HAVE fathomless respect for the one in five who "is knowingly and deliberately driving against oncoming traffic."

That's guts. Going on by the off-ramp, moreover, is only one way this strange breed pits nerves of steel against four lanes of Detroit iron.

Most of them double back against oncoming traffic after passing a desired off-ramp or intersection.

Like the guy with a burning yen for Lafayette who finds all he's got left is a choice between Walnut Creek and Dublin.

DON'T KNOCK HIM too much. Breathes there a man, etc., who hasn't muttered, "Boy, if I could just shoot across there to that median strip I'd be home in time for Huntley-Brinkley."

You've got to admire him in a way . . . a queer fish called a bonehead going back to Pleasant Hill Road to spawn.

The best trick of all would slay you. Going on an off-ramp, or even off an on-ramp (they do that too), could, after all, happen by mistake.

BUT THERE'S ONE guy whose courage the Highway Patrol can guarantee.

He's the one who carefully entered on the on-ramp but made a left turn when he "found the direction of travel on the freeway was not what he wanted."

Can you help but respect a guy who knows what he wants and won't be pushed around by a bunch of crazy drivers?

Like I say, it takes guts.

And it usually leaves them several yards from the body.

Under The Sun Let's Discuss Mutual Newspaper Problems

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Today let's talk about some mutual problems—yours as a newspaper reader, mine as an editor.

On several occasions recently The Sun has been criticized for printing a certain kind of news.

I won't relate these specific stories but will note that criticism is aimed at us for printing "unhappy news"—divorces, drunk driving or other arrests and convictions, juvenile problems (without the names), suicides, etc.

Let's review this problem for a minute. First, The Sun does not feature or up-plays such news. Usually, you will find only 2 or 3 paragraphs devoted to such stories—on inside pages. If, however, it is of wider significance, it will be given stronger treatment.

Our Policy Re-Stated

Second, The Sun's policy is—and will continue to be—to print all news of the community. We are not going to set ourselves up as censors to decide what you shall or shall not read.

When newspapers start doing this, you had better start worrying.

Third, please don't blame your newspaper if your nice neighbor gets caught for drunken driving and is convicted.

It's ironic! People don't blame the guy at fault; they don't blame the policeman for arresting him; they don't blame the judge or jury who convicted him. They blame the newspaper for printing the story.

Certainly there are times when this newspaper might mis-handle such a story. But, remember, newspapers don't make the news; they merely report it.

Our Columns Are Open

Monday I had a lengthy discussion with an executive of a major oil company.

Remember—The Sun criticized the big oil companies for building too many stations too close together in a given area. Neither one of us convinced the other. There are good arguments on both sides.

I did, however, make the point very clear to him and would like to repeat it: the columns of The Sun are open to him and to you. Write us a letter and state your position. Keep it brief and to the point, please.

Several UNSIGNED letters have been received the past weeks.

Please sign your letters, along with your address. We prefer not to "withhold name," but will do so if you insist . . . as long as you tell us your name.

Letters to the Editor

COMBINE ELECTIONS

Editor:

Having just paid the property taxes and felt the real pinch of living in Contra Costa County, I think it behooves each one of us to urge our county administrators to conduct our government as economically as possible.

On April 2 we had an election for fire commissioners.

Last week we had an election for school trustees.

Will somebody please explain to me why those elections couldn't have been consolidated thereby effecting a tidy saving to the poor taxpayer?

ELIZABETH N. ALLEN
Lafayette

(Ed. Note: This is the response given The Sun by one high-ranking county official:

"It's a mess because the precinct boundary lines of one district will be far different than the next district. For instance, the boundary lines of a school precinct district don't necessarily follow those of a fire district.

"If we had one fire district or school district in the county, and the precinct boundary lines were identical, we could hold elections at one time.

"But we have all kinds of districts and all kinds of precinct boundary lines in the county, so the necessity for different elections. And there are 500 elected officials in the county."

"The last time we had a public hearing on the consolidation of some district lines, not a single taxpayer showed up!"

Thank you for your interest in this project.

THE WINNER!

Editor:

Please accept my thanks for your unbiased reporting on school news and campaign statements of the various candidates for the Walnut Creek Elementary School Board.

I would also like to express my appreciation to those people who showed confidence in my ability to hold this post.

Thank you!

MRS. PHYLLIS HARTWIG,

Taxable Sales Almost Half a Billion in CCC

Taxable transactions in Contra Costa County amounted to $142.5 million in the fourth quarter of 1961. This amount brought the total for the year 1962, an increase of 10.2 per cent from the level of the final quarter of 1961. Transactions subject to the state's sales and use tax during 1962 reached an all-time high of nearly $26 billion. In making this announcement, John W. Lynch, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, pointed out that the annual gain amounted to almost $2 billion, or 8 1/2 per cent.

Taxable sales in 52 of the state's 58 counties were higher in 1962 than in 1961. The strongest gain was made in the southern equalization district where the increase was 9 1/2 per cent. Almost equally impressive upsurges in business were experienced in the other three equalization districts which posted gains of 6 and 7 per cent. STATEWIDE fourth-quarter taxable sales surpassed the $7 billion mark by $333 million, up 8 per cent from the level of the final quarter of 1961 with practically every class of business sharing in the improvement.

Taxable sales reported by retailers statewide increased nine per cent during 1962. Thirty-six of the 40 retail business classes for which data are reported surpassed their 1961 sales levels, with half of them posting gains that exceeded the state's 8.3 per cent gain.

Auto sales expanded faster than any other segment of the economy during 1962. Sales of new car dealers surpassed the previous record set in 1955 by 15 per cent and topped the 1961 level by more than 20 per cent. At $3.2 billion they accounted for one-eighth of all taxable transactions. Used car dealers also experienced substantial improvement in sales. The annual sales of home furnishings stores were 11 1/2 per cent above their 1961 level. General merchandise and specialty stores, household appliance, and building material dealers registered increases of 9 per cent or more over 1961.

THE 20 PER CENT drop in taxable sales of drug stores is directly attributable to the exemption of prescription medicines that went into effect January 1, 1962.

Strongest fourth-quarter gains were reported for the automotive industry. Sales were up 20 per cent or more for car dealers, automotive supplies and cycle and plane dealers. Sales increases of about 15 per cent were made by gift, art parts stores; and trailer, boat, goods and novelty stores, household appliance dealers and lumber and building material dealers.

Gains of around 12 per cent were reported for department and dry goods stores and for stores selling sporting goods, musical instruments, household and home furnishings, second-hand merchandise and hardware.

Other business classes registering sales gains exceeding the state average included men's apparel stores, food stores not selling hard liquor and restaurants not serving alcoholic drinks.

Henry said that more than 150 Realtors and real estate salesmen are attending the conference on "The Keys to Selling Single Family Homes and an Introduction to Selling Apartment Units."

Dined, Honored PG&E Employees For Services

A service dinner honoring 59 employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company was held recently at Goodman's Hall, Jack London Square, Oakland. All members of the group are employed in PG&E's Diablo District. Each received an emblem in recognition of service to the company.

The awards are made for each five-year period, according to H. V. Worthington, district manager. This year a total of 2838 PG&E men and women were given service awards. They are employed throughout the company's 47-county Northern and Central California service area. The largest segment—a group of 943 got 15-year emblems.

Those honored for 20 or more years number 638. About 3500 of PG&E's more than 19,000 employees have been with the company 20 years or longer. Included is President Norman R. Sutherland, who this year gets his 50-year emblem. Local employees with 20 or more years of service who were honored at the dinner are: 35 years: W. J. Krahenbuhl, 380 Cordelia Drive, Danville. 30 years: H. J. Gallagher, 19 Mariposa Court, Danville.

20 years: Miss A. N. Parkison, 1430 Dewing Lane, Walnut Creek; F. J. Godwin, 1851 San Luis Road, Walnut Creek; J. H. Black, 187 Arlene Drive, Walnut Creek; D. F. Stalker, 116 Alegra Lane, Walnut Creek.

Name Mathews Exec. V.P. of Alamo Housing

Ray Mathews has been named executive vice president, Round Hill Division of Geldermann Realtors, Inc., in Alamo.

Mathews heads the sales department of Round Hill, the $20 million home development in the San Ramon Valley between Walnut Creek and Danville.

Last week Mathews announced sales of homes and homesites have passed the million dollar mark for the first 90 days of 1963.

Conceived in October of 1960 by Harlan Geldermann and John Sparrow, the development is being built around the 18-hole golf course and club house that represent an investment of $1.5 million.

There are currently 20 residents living at Round Hill, with 18 new homes under construction.

Mathews also announced that the second unit of 171 homesites is not officially open as yet, but 24 homesites have already been sold to date. A total of 650 acres is under development at Round Hill, with an 8-year projection plan for completion.

Basic concept behind the Round Hill Plan is "Live Where You Play," designed for complete family living, including all recreational facilities. All utilities are underground, including a master TV antenna system that eliminates roof antennas.

The food so readily available in the U. S. is produced by less than 8 per cent of our work force.

Spring Cleaning? 'Have a Heart'

When crocuses come up, can spring cleaning be far behind? The very thought makes many a woman wish she had an army of people working for her.

That's precisely what the American Heart Association and its affiliates mobilized to save the homemaker with heart disease from squandering all her energies on housework, leaving her too tired for family fun.

These "troops" consisted of authorities in industrial and management engineering, home economics, family relations, psychiatry, physical therapy, rehabilitation and home design. They applied all the knowledge and skills of their specialized fields to figuring out energy and time-saving ideas to help the housewife do her work as efficiently as possible.

While their suggestions were primarily intended for housewives whose doctors want them to limit their physical activity, there's no law that says a healthy woman can't take advantage of their ideas.

ORGANIZE YOUR work, says the Contra Costa County Heart Association, to make the most of your time and energy. But organize it according to your own pace and personal inclinations.

Think out the best ways for you to do whatever has to be done. You can economize on steps if you group your jobs according to location or type.

Have the right tools for the job: long-handled brooms and dustpans can save a lot of back-bending, for example. When possible, have extra sets of cleaning materials so that one can be kept wherever it is to be used.

ALTERNATIVELY, collect all your equipment in one trip to the utility closet and instead of lugging it from room to room, load everything onto a free-wheeling cart — your cleaning caddy.

Use all the resources at hand. For example, assign children chores within their capacity. Even 5- and 6-year-olds can be helpful.

Some women take a two-listed Club.

approach to dusting and polishing—a dust mitt or rag in each hand. They feel they can cover twice the territory in half the time.

When you have to pick up or lift objects, bend your knees. Let your leg muscles do the work of lowering and lifting—not your back muscles.

If you like working to the sound of music, make it a suitable rhythm for your special pace.

Most important, perhaps, is the matter of rest and relaxation. Don't work till you're ready to drop. You should run the house—not vice versa. More frequent and shorter periods of rest are better than one longer rest break. Half early enough to rest and freshen up before your husband comes home for dinner.

AS ONE HEART specialist said, "Most jobs are a cinch compared to housework." His studies showed that strenuous housework takes more energy per minute than digging coal.

He wasn't suggesting that housework be avoided by healthy people—it's a good work-out as long as you're in condition for it. But why use all your time and energy on house-cleaning? Save some for enjoyable activities with your family.

If you are a woman with a heart condition or if your doctor has advised you to take it easy, the Contra Costa County Heart Association has a work simplification consultation service available upon physician's prescription.

Slagle remarked that "the association, in keeping with its concern for government efficiency and economy, estimates that $90,000 will be saved by the employment of this new system. This is, indeed, a rare opportunity for the county."

"The initial saving would be $15,000, including the cost of the equipment, if the same number of voters were accommodated as in the last county-wide elections."

"Savings would be realized by reducing the number of precincts and precinct workers. The arduous, wearying and lengthy task of hand-counting ballots will be eliminated."

"Unless this system is adopted, the population growth of the county will require 200 additional precincts for the June 1964 primary, with an additional expenditure of $65,000," he said.

"The traditional and familiar method of paper ballot voting would not be changed except for the use of a special, marking pen. After the polls close, the sealed ballot boxes are taken to a central location where the entire precinct is tabulated in a matter of minutes and recorded on a computer type punched card.

Taxpayers Urge Purchase of Ballot Counter

President E. L. Slagle of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association has announced that the association's board of directors has unanimously endorsed the acquisition of a Coleman Vote Tallying System recommended by James Olsson, county election department, and Walter Paasch, county clerk, to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

Slagle remarked that "the association, in keeping with its concern for government efficiency and economy, estimates that $90,000 will be saved by the employment of this new system. This is, indeed, a rare opportunity for the county."

"The reliability exceeds human accuracy and has been thoroughly proven and tested in last November's election in Kern County."

"We hope that the board of supervisors will seize this opportunity and authorize the acquisition of a Coleman Vote Tally System for Contra Costa County," the president concluded.

Take Your Time On Vacations

Budgeting your vacation driving time is just as important as budgeting your holiday expenses, says the California State Automobile Association. An otherwise well-planned vacation trip can be spoiled by trying to cover too much ground in too little time, cautions the AAA motorists' organization. Those who do, return home in need of another vacation to recuperate.

For most families, a day's vacation driving should be limited to 300 miles between destination trips. If there is to be sightseeing along the way, an even shorter daily trip is recommended, says the CSAA.

CROWDING too many miles into one day's driving results in long monotonous hours in the car which spoil the fun for everyone. In planning a vacation trip you should estimate how far you can travel each day with comfort and safety and then subtract the time you want to allow for sightseeing. Generally, you should allow about three hours driving time to go 100 miles, including stops for gas, oil, refreshments and rest.

IF YOUR TRIP takes you to more heavily-congested areas in the midwest or east, you should allow more time.

KEEP HOT HOT -- COLD COLD!

Public health officials warn that food poisoning may result from the growth of contaminated food usually looks, tastes, and smells alright. The only way to be sure food is safe is to handle it properly.

1. Maintain the coldest parts of your refrigerator near 38°F, and the warmer areas at about 42°F. Check with an accurate thermometer. Defrost before a heavy layer of frost builds up.
2. Do not cool cooked foods at room temperature, but refrigerate as soon as possible. Do not cover until thoroughly chilled.
3. Keep cream-filled pastries, custards, puddings, sandwich fillings, salads, devilled eggs, boiled salad dressings, creamed foods, etc. under refrigeration.
4. Do not use "left overs" kept more than 36 hours even though refrigerated, unless the food is to be thoroughly cooked immediately before serving.
5. Do not handle foods if you have boils, pimples, or infected cuts on your hands. Do not sneeze or cough near food preparation areas.
6. When feeding a crowd, be sure you have enough refrigerator and even space.

Waldie's Library Bill to Senators

The assembly has passed AB 590, by Jerome Waldie, to provide assistance to California's public libraries. The measure is titled the Public Library Services Bill and represents the program of the California Library Association. Governor Brown has included the sum of $850,000 in his budget to finance the program. Numerous studies over the past 10 years by committees of both the senate and assembly and by a specially created commission, have pointed up the serious inadequacies of public libraries throughout the state. They are now supported entirely by the local property tax and thus are unable to meet the demands of California's vastly expanded and enriching school program, which is supported by state aid, according to a county library release.

TAKE THIS paper (as many copies as you like) with you as you make the rounds of Walnut Creek's more than 140 participating merchants.

In the stores, lucky number items will be brightly marked with special red and yellow showcards.

In addition, value-conscious shoppers will find that local merchants have advertised their lucky number and other specials in this and other publications.

The event has been organized through the Walnut Creek Area

Chamber of Commerce.

Herb Goranson, the chamber's retail trade committee chairman, advises that shoppers needn't live in Walnut Creek to participate.

"OUR distribution of numbers extends throughout the central and east county areas," Goranson said.

The promotion, first of its kind to be sponsored by the chamber, is expected to attract most of the area's shoppers, he added.

"For this reason," Goranson said, "merchants have been able to count on extraordinary volume to support some tremendous 'give-away' values on first-line merchandise."

"Remember," said the chairman, "these value days are numbered."

"Hurry into Walnut Creek and join your neighbors in the commercial center's biggest bargain bonanza ever!"

MANY CARS

A total of 7,217,957 automobiles entered California during 1962, reports the National Automobile Club.

This represents an increase of 1,447,930 over 1961 when 5,770,027 automobiles entered the state.

ALL SET for Walnut Creek's "Lucky Number Daze" are George Webster (left) and Si Sherman, both from Broadway Shopping Center. The event lasts through Saturday.

Local Women Ask Test Ban Treaty

A campaign to support ratification of an atomic test ban treaty has been initiated by the Diablo Women's Peace Council. In a "special bulletin" released this week, the council said that a treaty is now considered in the best interests of the nation by the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Whatever treaty is negotiated, however, will have to be ratified by congress, the council's bulletin explained.

The group urged citizens to support such ratification by writing to their congressmen, newspapers, magazines and by signing petitions now being circulated in this area.

Persons interested in the campaign and in educational activities planned by the council are invited to contact Audrey Goren (934-8144) or the organization through P.O. Box 113, Walnut Creek.

BATS
The tiny bat has a big appetite, according to the National Automobile Club. It will eat a quarter of its weight at one meal and more than half its weight every night.

San Pablo Dam Road Clean-up Is Underway

An intensive program of clean-up and repair on San Pablo Dam Road began Monday and will last through the week, First District Supervisor James P. Kenny has announced.

The heavy clean-up became necessary because of the recent rains and continuing slippage of earth material onto the Dam Road near the dam.

Traffic may be subject to short delays because equipment is working in the area.

Supervisor Kenny suggested that motorists who are required to use the Dam Road during the week exercise great caution to minimize the dangers to themselves and to the county maintenance workers who must work near the traveled lanes.

Guardsmen to Train at Parks

Over 400 Contra Costa County National Guardsmen of the 2nd Battalion, 184th Infantry, will travel by motor convoy from their home units to Camp Parks Saturday for two days of weapons familiarization and qualification.

The live-fire exercise is required each year before summer training.

Mental Health Rally To Be Held Here Saturday

An educator on the President's man is a former sheriff of Cook County.

Panel for Mental Retardation, and a famed criminologist will be the main speakers at the luncheon held in observance of Contra Costa's Rally for Mental Health Saturday, 12 noon at Diablo Valley College, according to Mrs. Fred Whelan, Mental Health Week chairman for the Contra Costa Mental Health Association.

Ernest P. Willenberg, director of special education branch of Los Angeles City School Districts and member of President John F. Kennedy's special panel on mental retardation, will speak on "Community Implementation of the President's Panel on Mental Retardation."

Dean Joseph D. Lohman, Department of Criminology, University of California, will talk on "Symptoms of a Troubled Community." Dean Lohman is a national authority in the fields of criminology, public administration, sociology and education. A resident of Orinda, Dean Loh-

THE KING BROTHERS, Kim and Sean, ages 17, of Walnut Creek, will entertain and present a few selections on a variety of instruments.

Following the luncheon there will be four panels.

"Families in Crisis" will be moderated by Fred Whelan, Ph.D., assistant professor, department of psychology, St. Mary's College.

Serving on his panel will be Robert Taines, M.D., practicing psychiatrist of Walnut Creek and the Community Mental Health Services in Martinez; Mrs. Philip Brown, M.S.W., psychiatric social worker, Catholic Social Service.

The Children's Institute and Training Center will be the second panel. Ralph Jarrett of Pinole and member of the Citizens Committee for the Children's Institute, will serve as moderator.

Panel members will be Jean E. Neighbor, M.D., chairman, professional advisory committee, Contra Costa County Mental Health Association and practicing psychiatrist of Lafayette; George Degnan, M.D., director County medical services, and Edwin M. Laplace, coordinator, special services, Richmond School District.

OTHER WORKSHOPS will be on the McNaughten Rule (based on an 1832 case in Britain which requires that in order to be ruled not guilty of a crime by reason of insanity, a defendant must show he didn't know the nature and quality of his act, or if he did, he didn't know the nature and quality of his act, or if he did, he didn't know it was wrong).

Mt. Diablo Bank Unveils New Plan

The board of directors of the new Mount Diablo First National Bank has unveiled the final working drawings for their new headquarters to be constructed on the corner of Gregory Lane and Contra Costa Highway.

The new building is being designed by Harry Nakahara, architect, Martinez. Nakahara will also hold the master lease on the property to be developed and known as Twin Oak Square.

ACCORDING to Lawrence Wallace, a director of the new bank and head of the building committee, the new head office will contain 3100 square feet, with provisions being made to increase the building to 7500 feet as additional space is needed.

The building will be of masonry construction with extensive use of glass, and features a modern folded roof construction.

"From the looks of the plans, I can assure the public that our new office will be one of the most modern and beautiful buildings in the community," Wallace said.

WHEN INTERVIEWED, Harry L. Morrison, chairman of the board and president of the bank, stated, "We certainly will be glad to see ground broken for our new office."

"We are most pleased with the response we have had from the community, and realize that the response will be even greater in our permanent location."
